ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is a unique privilege for me to have Prof. (Mrs.) Sujata Miri of the Department of Philosophy, NEHU as the Supervisor of my thesis. (At present she is also the Dean, School of Humanities and Education at NEHU.) It was under her kind supervision that I carried out this research. I am extremely grateful to her for her inspiration, guidance, encouragement and valuable suggestions throughout the process of writing this thesis.

I wish to acknowledge my heartfelt gratitude to all my teachers of the Department of Philosophy in general and Prof. C. R. Agera, who is the Head of the Department, and Prof. Jagat Pal, in particular, for taking keen interest in the progress of my research work and their helpful suggestions.

I had interviewed many distinguished Khasi teachers and elders. I am very grateful to all of them. I owe special thanks to Dr. (Mrs.) E. M. Syiem, Prof. Hamlet Bareh Ngapkynta, Prof. B. L. Swer, Dr. S. Dkhar, Dr. I. M. Simon, Dr. O. L. Snaitang, Mr. Phrikshon Lyngdoh (Nongkrem), Fr. Sngi Sylvanus Lyngdoh, Mr. S. S. Majaw, Dr. B. War and (Late) Mr. Hipshon Roy Kharshiing, for their kind suggestions have found worthy reference in the texture of the present thesis.
I have made a brave attempt in my thesis to include references to ancient Indian philosophies like that of the Samkhya system and to later philosophies like that of Ramanuja without having any knowledge of the Sanskrit language. I have relied totally on commentaries and translations.

I am also thankful for the encouragement and careful assistance of Mr. Joseph F. Khongbuh in typesetting my finalized manuscript on the computer and to Dr. Siby K. George, Programme Coordinator, SRC, NEHU for proof-reading the same.
