ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost, I thank God for His abundant Grace throughout the period of my research on the topic “The Image of the Suffering Woman: A Selective Study of the Khasi Novels [1963 – 1990]”. It has been a long and arduous but nevertheless inspiring and satisfying task. This research work was completed under the supervision of Prof. (Mrs.) B. War, of Khasi Department. I am extremely grateful to her for her constant encouragement, inspirational guidance, admirable patience and optimistic attitude and also for being instrumental in suggesting this topic to me.

My profused thanks to my all dear and close friends for enthusiastic support to me.

I owe a debt of gratitude to the Librarian and all the staff of the Central Library, North-Eastern Hill University. I also wish to express my gratitude to the Regional Centre of the Central Institute Of English And Foreign Languages, Shillong for the help extended to me during my research. My thanks are also to ICSSR, Shillong for granting financial assistance needed during my research work.

I am grateful to the faculty members and office staff of the Department of Khasi for their help. I am especially grateful to Prof. J. War for valuable suggestion as an expert in my Ph.D. Pre-Submission Seminar.
I also express my loving gratitude to my children, F. Pdianghunlin Nongbri and F. Peniel James Nongbri and especially beloved husband H. Finally Lyngdoh for his endless sacrifice and moral support which enable me to pursue and complete my research inspite of the inconvenience faced by the family.

Last but not the least my special thanks goes to Mr. Assist Khongwir for helping me in computer typing, printing the draft and putting all his effort to finish the work in time.
