BIBLIOGRAPHY
BIBLIOGRAPHY

Bandhopadhyaya M.K. (1972):

Geomorphological Characteristics of the Southern Part of the Khasi Hills, Geog Rev. Ind Vol 34(2) pp. 184-189

Landslides and Soil Erosion in the Gish Drainage Basin of the Darjeeling Himalaya and their bearing of North Bengal floods Studia Geomorphologica, Carpethia-Balearica 22 pp. 105-122

Some Consideration on Recent Landslide at Power Tindihara and their Control, India Jour. of Power river valley development Ooct-Nov. p. 188-194.

Bishas S. and Ghosh A. K.

Impact of Shifting Cultivation in Meghalaya, pp 75-80
Bordoloi, K.K. (1979)

Borua, J. K. And Singh Surendra (1998):

Bhan, S. _Soil and water Conservation practices for sustainable Agriculture in rainfed area with particular reference to Northern Alluvial plain Zone of India, Paper published in the Jour. Soil and water conservation Vol 40, No 1 & 2 PP 44-56_

Some Contribution to the geology of N.E. India,

Chansker, Ramchendra & Anant (1975):

Ibid., (1969): The drainage basin as the fundamental geomorphic unit, In R. J. Chorly (ed) water, earth and map, pp.77-100.

Evans P.(1964): The Tectonic Framework of Assam, Jour Geol. Soc. Ind. 5 pp.155-200

ICAR Research Bulletin No. 9 (1991):

Laskar B. (1949):  Note on a traverse in Subansiri valley in the outer Himalaya in Assam, Unpublished report GSL

Leopold L.B., Wolman M.G. and Milder J.P. (1964):

