ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I take this opportunity to express my deep gratitude to my teacher and guide, Professor Mrinal Miri, for his invaluable, selfless, and patient guidance. The constant discussions I had with him have gone a long way in shaping the course of this work. In the course of guiding this work not only has he introduced me to new dimensions in the field of philosophy, but has also created in me a sensitive awareness of the subtleties of music, art and literature, for which, I remain ever indebted to him.

I owe very special thanks to my mother-in-law, Kiranbala Goswami, without whose support and cheerfully given help this work would not have seen the light of day, and to my husband, Dhruba Goswami for his tremendous encouragement and for having made it possible for me to undertake this work.

I would also like to record my gratitude to my teachers of the Department of Philosophy, and to my friends and colleagues for their help and goodwill.

I am grateful too to Mr. Joseph F. Khongbuh for typing out the manuscript with utmost care.

And last but not the least, I remember my sister for her active help and my parents, who have been the silent but constant inspirers for me to finish this work.
