Acknowledgements

I place on record my sincere gratitude to my Supervisor, Professor Mignonette Momin of the Department of History, North-Eastern Hill University, Shillong. She spared her valuable time in discussing with me not only the subject-matter and the methodology for my thesis but also the larger issues in historical methods and the writing of early Indian history. But for her keen interest and effective supervision I would have fallen prey to many errors. I am also thankful to all the Teachers in the Department of History of the University, and particularly to Dr. A.K. Thakur, for their encouragement and support during the course of my research work.

I am indebted to Professor Pranab Kumar Bhattacharyya of Ancient Indian History at North Bengal University, whom I met in Siliguri in July 2003. During my visit to North Bengal University Library and the Akshaya Kumar Maitreya Museum for data collection, he had extended valuable assistance and guidance in collecting material on my subject of research. Likewise, Dr. Gautam Sengupta, Director of Archaeology and Museums, Government of West Bengal, generously helped me in gathering material from various libraries and museums in Kolkata. I express my heartfelt thanks to both of them.

I recall with a deep sense of gratitude the support and inspiration I got from Late Professors Bijon Behari De, Calcutta University, and Pranjal Kumar Bhattacharya, Jadavpur University. Both of them had taken keen interest in my work and spared their valuable time for me during the winters of 2003-04, 2004-05 and 2005-06 to discuss the history of Ancient Bengal. I am sorry that both of them passed away before I could complete my work.

My thanks are also due to Dr. S. Sharma, Department of Geography, North-Eastern Hill University, Shillong and his research scholars for preparing the maps; and to the Librarian and Staff of each of the following: North-Eastern Hill University Library (Shillong), North Bengal University Library (Siliguri), Asiatic Society (Kolkata), Institute of Historical Studies (Kolkata), Institute of Northeast India Studies (Kolkata), Sanskrit College Library (Kolkata), and Centre for Archaeological Studies & Training (Eastern India) (Kolkata). The Director and Staff of the (a) West Bengal State Museum, Kolkata, (b) Akshaya Kumar Maitreya Museum, North Bengal University, Siliguri, (c) Assam State Museum, Guwahati, and (d) Department of Historical and Antiquarian Studies, Guwahati, all deserve thanks for allowing me access to the material in their collections.

Finally, I thank the Special Assistance Programme (UGC) of the Department of History, North-Eastern Hill University, Shillong, for financial support for my visit to Siliguri (in July 2003) and to Kolkata (in January-February 2005). If, inspite of everything, there are still some errors in this thesis, I own responsibility for the same.
