ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In the first place, I am indebted to the University Department of Business Management, which has accepted me for the Doctorate program and provided me with an excellent opportunity to carry out present research project.

I would like to thank all persons who have instrumental in making this dissertation see the light of the day directly or indirectly. I owe my deepest gratitude to my mentor and guide Dr. Chndrahauns R. Chavan without whose insights and guidance my work would never have been completed. He helped me retain my focus during the course of this study and guide me in prioritizing the different phases of this research. Without his guidance and support this research would not have taken this current form and could not have been completed within the scheduled time.

I would like to acknowledge the help Mr. J.C. Sharma (Consultant, Social Science Research and Statistics) for his guidance in data analysis.

I thank my father Mr. Dwarkaprasad Upadhye, mother Mrs. Padmavathi Upadhye and my sisters Kavita Sharma and Nisha Sharma for their significant support.

I will like to give special thank to my wife Mrs. Neha Upadhye for her Perseverance, Support and Patience while I was busy completing this research.

Mr. Mukesh Upadhye
