Acknowledgements

It gives me immense pleasure to acknowledge the help and support of numerous individuals that I received during the course of this study. First and foremost, I thank the Almighty for his blessings, because, without His will, nothing in this world ever becomes possible. His blessings have been showered upon me, in the form of my able Guide, Prof. Rohit Desai, Professor of Economics, Sardar Patel Institute Of Economic and Social Research (SPIESR), Ahmedabad, who has guided, supported and encouraged me at every step of this journey. Without his constant co-operation and help, this study would never have been complete. I must also thank his family members for their hospitality and warmth, whenever I visited them.

I am grateful to the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR), New Delhi, for awarding me a Doctoral Fellowship to pursue this study.

I am also grateful to the Chairman of Charutar Vidya Mandal, Dr. C. L. Patel, as well as Dr. Nikhil Zaveri, Principal, C. Z. Patel College of Business and Management, Vallabh Vidyanagar, for allowing me to continue with my research work.

I would like to thank the Director of Sardar Patel Institute of Economic and Social Research (SPIESR), Ahmedabad, Prof. R. G. Nambiar, for providing with all necessary facilities for this study. I thank all the members of the office and library staff of SPIESR, Ahmedabad, for their kind assistance from time to time.

My hearty thanks to Mr. Brave, and Mr. V. A. Patel, Executive Engineers of Ahmedabad Irrigation Circle, as well as officials of the Circle and sub-division offices of Sanand and Bavla in Ahmedabad Irrigation Circle, for providing me with the necessary material required for my study. I also thank the officials of the Sardar Sarovar Narmada Nigam Ltd. Gandhinagar, for providing me with necessary material and spending their valuable time in discussions which helped in developing my insight of the problem. I would also like to thank the officials of the Gujarat Narmada, Water Resources and Water Supply Department, Gandhinagar, and the officers of the Bureau of Economics and Statistics, Government of Gujarat, for their valuable assistance in collecting secondary data required for this study.

I am indebted to Shri Ashwin Rawal of SPIESR for his invaluable help with my fieldwork during the primary survey in ten villages of Fatewadi Command Area. I would also like to thank all the respondent farmers in the villages that I visited for providing me with all necessary information for the study and also for their kind hospitality. I am grateful to Mr. Satheesan, of SPIESR, Ahmedabad, for readily helping me out with a smiling face, whenever required.

I express my gratitude to Shri Sachin Oza, Ms. Rohini Patel and Shri Vaibahv Chaturvedi of Development Support Centre, Bopal, Ahmedabad, for providing all necessary help and support for my field visit to the Water Users' Association in Kiyadar village, Mehesana. I also thank the field office staff of Development Support Centre in Mehesana for their help and hospitality.

I am immensely grateful to Prof. Tushaar Shah, IWMI-Tata Water Policy Program Office, Anand, Shri Jaynarayan Vyas, former Minister, Government of Gujarat, Prof. Ravindra Dholakia, IIM, Ahmedabad, Prof. Sudarshan Iyengar, Centre for Social Studies, Surat, Prof. R. Parthasarthy, School of Planning, Ahmedabad, Prof. H. G. Patel, (retired Prof. and Head), Department of Economics, Sardar Patel University, Vallabh Vidyanagar, and Prof. P. K. Singh, Prof. and Head, Department of Economics, Sardar Patel University, Vallabh Vidyanagar for their inspiration and encouragement from time to time as well as very constructive comments, insightful suggestions and enlightening discussions, which helped me in a clear understanding of a lot of issues.

My most sincere thanks to Prof. Tushaar Shah, for granting me an access to the IWMI-Tata Anand office library, as well as Ms. Aditi Mukherjee, Shri Jayesh Talati and Shri Dhaval Pandya for sparing their time and engaging in interesting and informative discussions, which helped me in honing my research skills.

How can I forget to thank all those scientists, who have given an invaluable gift to our generation in the form of the computer, along with its wonderful amenities for word processing and data analysis? Indeed, this has cut down on the time-consuming drudgery associated with research work, so that one can apply all one's intellectual capacities in a more efficient and fruitful way.

It would have been impossible for me to pursue and complete this study without the invaluable support and encouragement of my mother-in-law Smt. Ramaben Bhatt, who relieved me of my household duties and responsibilities during crucial periods of this study. If it were not for her, this thesis would never have seen the light of day. I am also thankful to my father-in-law, Prof. D. N. Bhatt, for always encouraging me to complete this study. I am deeply indebted to my father, Shri Shubhang Pandya, who has constantly inspired me to overcome difficult situations and never to give up, in the face of any difficulty. It is he, who provided invaluable help during the course of analysis of data and computerisation of the drafts of the study. My mother, Smt. Prerana Pandya has always been my source of emotional support and strength. I cannot forget to thank her for those endless cups of tea in the middle of the night, while I rattled away on the computer. I am lucky to have a husband like Dr. Vasishta Bhatt, who always encouraged me to take up further studies and stood by me through thick and thin.

Last but not the least, how can I forget to thank my seven year old son Ishan, for being such a wonderful human being, and patiently waiting all this while to claim his right to engage my undivided attention.

Sonal S. Pandya
Ahmedabad
June 2005