ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I express my sincere thanks to Dr.K.M.Seethi, Reader, School of International Relations, Mahatma Gandhi University, who has been my guide and supervisor in completing this study. I am indebted to Dr.A.K.Ramakrishnan, Director, School of International Relations, who was of immense help to my research. My gratitude also goes to Dr.G.P.Ramachandra, Professor and other faculty members of the School. I must also thank Dr.K.N.Harilal, Associate Fellow, Centre for Development Studies, for his valuable suggestions and help in the course of the work. I am grateful to Sri.Sunny, Librarian and other staff of the School of International Relations who have helped me wholeheartedly.

I gratefully acknowledge the one-year teacher fellowship granted by the University Grants Commission, New Delhi under the Faculty Improvement Programme without which it would not have been possible to complete this study. In the course of my research work, the libraries of the University of Kerala, Centre for Development Studies, Thiruvananthapuram and Kerala Institute of Local Administration (KILA), Thrissur have been the reliable sources of information and data. Almost all the primary sources used in this study are collected from the UN/World Bank section of the University of Kerala, and I am immensely grateful to the late Sri.N.Ravindran who was in charge of the section and the faculty and library staff of the institutions mentioned above. I also place on record my gratitude to my wife Dr.A.N.Suja for her constant help and encouragement. Last, but not the least, I would like to express my thanks to my friends in Mahatma Gandhi University and Sri. K.V. Sugunan (Lars Computers, Athirampuzha) for word processing.

Priyadarshini Hills
June 2003

P.J.James