ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

My first and foremost thanks go to God Almighty for sustaining me and being my source of inspiration and guidance.

Prof. Javaid Akhtar, Dean & Chairman, Dept. of Business Administration, AMU and my research guide has been very patient and tolerant; his constant encouragement, understanding and guidance has helped me see this project to fruition. I take this opportunity to express my very sincere and deep gratitude to him.

I sincerely thank Dr. R. Krishnaveni, Professor, PSG Institute of Management, my external guide, who despite her heavy commitments spared every valuable minute, to guide me and made helpful suggestions and constructive comments.

I thank Dr. R. Nandagopal, Director, PSG Institute of Management, for having encouraged me to take up this program and thereafter encouraged me by providing the resources for a large part of this study.

I thank the Management; Dr. S. Subramaniam, Principal; Mr. A. Ramanathan, Director, SOM; Sri Krishna College of Engineering and Technology, and Dr. AGV Narayanan, Dean, BRIM, Erode, for having supported me and encouraged me in finishing my thesis.

I thank my friends and colleagues Dr. N. Vivek, Mr. Jai Shanker, Mr. Arul Rajan, Dr. Sripirabaa, Dr. Kirupa Priyadarshini and Dr. N Ramkumar who have taken lot of efforts in guiding me in respect of methodology and statistical analysis.

Finally, I thank my family for without their sacrifices and constant encouragement, I would never have finished this work.
