ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I owe a great debt of gratitude to Dr. M. Lakshmi Narasaiah, Professor of Economics, Sri Krishnadevaraya University Post-Graduate Centre, Kurnool, for his valuable guidance. He has been the source of constant encouragement throughout my research work. Inspite of his busy schedule, he was never reluctant to spare his most precious time, whenever I approached him for guidance.

I express my sincere thanks to Prof. N. Narayana, Department of Economics, S.K. University, Anantapur and Dr. N. T. K. Naik, Head of the Department, Prof. R. Sanjeeva Rao, Sri. T. V. Seshaiah, Faculty member of the Department of Economics, SKUPG Centre, Kurnool for providing me with all the required facilities during my research work.

I am thankful to the Bank Managers of the Regional Rural Banks, Kurnool who extended their co-operation and guided me in every aspect in the collection of secondary data with regard to farm finance.

I am also thankful to the officials of National Institute of Rural Development, National Institute of Bank Management, Pune and Andhra Pradesh State Institute of Rural Development, Hyderabad and District Rural Development Agency, Kurnool for rendering great help in the present study.
I also express my thanks to the Assistant Director, Assistant Statistical Officer, Office of the Chief Planning Officer, Kurnool for their timely co-operation.

I remain ever grateful to my beloved parents without whose encouragement and support, I could not have even dreamt of pursuing my Doctoral Degree.

I also extend my thanks to the Library Staff of National Institute of Rural Development, Hyderabad, National Institute of Bank Management, Pune and Centre for Economic and Social Studies, Hyderabad, Osmania University, University of Hyderabad, Hyderabad; and Sri Krishnadevaraya University, Anantapur and SKUPG Centre, Kurnool for their kind help and cooperation in making available the relevant books, reports and journals in executing my present research work.

R. RAMUDU