ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I express my gratitude and sincere thanks to my Research Supervisor, Prof. G. Sathyanarayana, Professor of Economics and Director, College Development Council, Sri Krishnadevaraya University, Anantapur, who initiated me into research and inspired me to complete this study.

I am thankful to my beloved husband, late Sri G. Bhaskar Rao, who worked as a Lecturer till 7 November, 1993 in the Department of Economics, Sri Krishnadevaraya University, Anantapur, for it was he who enthused me to do the research on this topic.

My thanks are due to my teachers in the Department: Prof. C. Venkata Reddy, Principal, SK University College and Dean of Social Sciences; Prof. N. Narayana who is presently away at Botswana University, Southern Africa; Prof. K. Nageswara Rao, Chairman, Board of Studies in Economics; Sri B. Lakshmipathi, Associate Professor; Prof. M. Jaya Raj, Head of the Department and to all other staff in the Department for their cooperation.

Dr. M.D. Bavaiah, Assistant Professor, Department of Economics, SK University, assisted me in suggesting suitable statistical tools required to properly analyse the processed data. I convey my sincere thanks to him for what all he did for me in this regard.

I am, indeed, lucky to get the needed cooperation from Smt. Rani Kumudini, IAS, who previously worked as the Secretary of Andhra Pradesh Social Welfare Residential Educational Institutions' Society, Hyderabad and presently Collector of Ranga Reddy District; Smt. R. Ranjeev Acharya, IAS, Secretary APSWREIS, Joint Secretaries; Deputy Secretaries of all six zones, Finance Officer and Members of Staff, Andhra Pradesh Social Welfare Residential Educational Institutions Society Office, Hyderabad. I am profusely thank them all for extending the needed cooperation during the period of this research study.

Similarly, I thank the Secretary, Deputy Secretaries and the Staff of the Office of the Andhra Pradesh Residential Educational Institutions Society, Gaganavihar, Hyderabad, who provided access to documents and information available in their office which I richly utilized in writing this thesis.

I am indebted to the authorities of the Sri Krishnadevaraya University, Anantapur for providing all necessary infrastructure and opportunity to pursue and complete my higher education and research study successfully.

I am deeply beholden to my mother Smt. B.J. Mary John and my Mother-in-law Smt. G. Bhagyamma, who earnestly wished me to successfully complete this study.

My son, G. Bhanumurthy and my daughter G. Prashanthi, who made a lot of sacrifices on their part by silently bearing the strain of domestic responsibilities during my absence when I went to collect the data for this study.

Finally, I thank Sri V. Sahadevan who typed neatly this thesis into present form.

K. PRAMEELA.
