ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am lost for words to express my gratitude and indebtedness to Dr. Ch. Umamohan, Professor and Head, Department of Sociology, Sri Krishnadevaraya University, Anantapur, for all his invaluable guidance, and the most important of all, for his encouragement to me which has been the real driving force that made me strive hard to reach this level. I consider it as most fortunate in being associated with Dr. Umamohan, a man of letters, for more than two decades. Every moment of my acquaintance with him has been a new experience of learning.

I acknowledge my sincere gratitude to Apostle James C. Cable of Reorganised Latter Day Saints, U.S.A. James Cable is a man of Vision and Mission, whose inevitable and ever presence in the thick of the fields among the real needy has always been a guiding force in overcoming all the hurdles, a researcher with a problem like mine always faces. I, in all probability, could not have taken up such a challenging task, that too in my advanced age, but for his prayers and blessings which, I always felt, gave me the courage and determination very much necessary to step into that environment where life is always at risk.

I am thankful to Outreach International, U.S.A., for its generous funding, partially, of participatory human resource development project resulting in the amelioration of the poor and needy.

I express my sincere gratitude to Dr. V. Eswara Reddy, Professor and Head, C. D. Deshmukh Impart Centre, Council for Social Development, Hyderabad. Dr. Reddy, with whom my association goes back to twenty five years, has been inspiration and encouragement personified fructifying my endeavours into a concrete shape.

I am also grateful to Prof. G. Lakshmaiah Naidu, Chairman, Board of Studies, Dr. Amarnath R. Das, Associate Professor, Dr. R.V. K. Naidu,
