ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I deem it a privilege to begin this acknowledgement by expressing my profound sense of gratitude to my revered supervisor Prof. Kaleem Mohammed Khan for his sagacious guidance and intellectual stimulation throughout the present study. His scholarly suggestions, research acumen, immense interest and affectionate behaviour have been a fountain of inspiration for me. I am indebted to him for his careful and critical review without which this thesis would have been far less illuminating and readable. Further, his profound understanding of statistics and research methodology served to be of immense help to me.

Dr. Dheeraj Mishra, my co supervisor deserves a special mention in guiding me with statistical analysis throughout my study and always was ready to spare his valuable time in providing me constructive suggestions and valuable guidance. I also thank him for impressing me to submit a research paper “Relationship Between Satisfaction and Performance in Indian Banks, An Empirical study” from my thesis for an International Conference in Business & Economics organized by International Academy of Business and Economics (IABE), California State University held in Las Vegas, USA. I got this opportunity to present the paper at the conference at Las Vegas, USA. This paper also got published in Refereed international journal,” International Journal of Business Research” (IJBR).

I also express my gratitude to Dr. B.S. Sahay, Director, Institute of Management Technology, Ghaziabad for his encouragement for completion of the study. I also thank him for giving me an opportunity to present my research paper at the International Conference in USA.

I also thank Prof. Bhavesh Patel, of Myers University and Dr. Alan Khade, of California State University, USA for constructive review of the thesis.
Mr. Akhtar Hussain, Librarian, Institute of Management Technology and Mr. Raina, Chief Librarian at Indian Institute of Management Lucknow, Mr. Tiwari, Librarian at Jaipuria Institute of Management, Lucknow, deserve praise for their prompt replies and help that they extended in arranging literature for the present study. I also thank members of library staff of Ratan Tata Library, Delhi University, for their help and cooperation. I will like to thank Dr. Poonam Garg, Prof. Pushpendra Priyadarshi faculty at Institute of Management Technology, Ghaziabad, for their constant encouragement to complete my thesis.

I will like to thank the managers of the State Bank of India, Punjab National Bank, Housing Development Finance Corporation, Industrial Credit Investment Corporation of India, Industrial Development Bank of India for the support in providing the relevant information.

I will like to thank the team of Market Probe, the research agency who helped in collection of the data.

I will also thank students of PGDBM at Institute of Management Technology, Ghaziabad and Jaipuria Institute of Management who helped in collection of the data.

I will also acknowledge those customers of the banks who spared their precious time in patiently listening to me, going through the lengthy questionnaire and candidly responded to the queries.

This study could not have been possible without the sacrifices and support of my family. I am indebted to my parents and parents-in-law who have been a constant source of encouragement for me.