ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I owe this work and the unfailing strength to strive to the child victims and survivors of sexual abuse. Sharing their pain, agony, trauma and courage to fight and get healed paved the direction of my work and instilled a sense of meaning to it.

I extend deep gratitude to the Police Department of Kerala for the patience with which they provided material, answered my queries and enthusiastically participated in the discussions, setting aside their busy schedules. My special acknowledgement to Mr. Hemachandran IPS, M. Anantkrishnan IPS, Mr. Unnirajan Dy.SP, Mr. Shankar Reddy IPS, Ms.Samitha IPS, Mr. Y.Anilkumar IPS for taking special interest in the work, making arrangements for workshops with the police personnel and thereby facilitating the dissemination of information about CSA.

I am deeply indebted to the Judicial Department for their readiness in sharing their views and reflecting deeply on the predicament of sexually abused children. I extend my special thanks to the Honourable High Court of Kerala for its sensitivity to the value of children’s life and to the issue of sexual abuse and for the quick and effective action it has undertaken. Special reverence has to be paid to the Honourable Justice Shri Krishna, former Chief Justice, Kerala and Honourable Justice Shri Arijith Passayat, former Chief Justice for their compassion for children and their openness.
My thanks are also due to the doctors of various specializations who have spared their time to make this research rich and resourceful. Special gratitude is extended to Dr. Arun Kishore who played an important role in lifting up my sagging spirits at the right juncture, to Dr. Girish for facilitating our workshop, to Dr. Janaki for her support and to Dr. Shekhar Sheshadri for providing me with rich insight into the issue.

Thanks is also extended to the Educational Officers, teachers and the media personnel for having evinced interest and for sparing their time for discussions by actively participating in the dialogue.

I extend deep gratitude to the library staff of Tata Institute of Social Sciences for searching, tracing, xeroxing, binding all the material I needed, to the NIMHANS library staff for sending required material, to the CDS, Trivandrum library and finally to the M.G. University library.

I pay obeisance to the children with whom I have spent several hours learning, healing, responding to their queries.

To the women who have keenly attended classes, shared experiences, pain and hope.

To the children and K.J. Baby of Kanavu for offering me warm hospitality and demonstrating how eminently and elegantly children discuss sexuality.
To the faculty and staff of SGTDS especially Dr. M.S. John, Meera, Radhakrishnan and Milan.

To the Women’s Forum, M.G. University.

To Sri. Shibu K.V., M/S. Minitek Computers, Athirampuzha for his creative endeavor in giving final shape to this work.

This work would not have been possible but for:-

My guide, Dr. M.P. Mathai’s infallible optimism, depth of perception and sensitivity about the work and my role and enduring support.

Ms. Anjali Dave, faculty, IISS, who led me in the right direction.

Dr. K. Aravindakshan, who insisted that I adhere to this topic.

Achan, C.P. Gangadharan who always exulted in the work I was doing and constantly reminded me to be perseverant.

Amma, who freed me from domestic chores and asked me to concentrate on my work.

Greeshma, who launched me into the world of computer.

Hinaben, Centre for Social Studies, South Gujarat University, Surat who silently sent me all the material I needed.
Shyam and Anu, who shared the deepest faith in my potential.

my Achan, who instilled in me the confidence to strive.

my Amma, who patiently bore the brunt of all my anger, impatience and irritation.

my little one, Krishna Sanjeevani, who taught me what childhood means and the joy of life.

my life-mate, Baiju who accepted me as I am, for supporting me in this process of healing and becoming whole and

Providence, who suffused in me the energy to rise when my spirit sags and I see no light.
