ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The present thesis is the result of almost five years of research. During this period I have incurred an enormous debt to many individuals and institutions. First and foremost, I would like to record my deep sense of gratitude to Professor Syed Mohammad Ozair, not only for inducting me as a research scholar in the department during 1988 but for many act of kindness as a person as well as in his capacity as Chairman, Department of Business Administration and Dean, Faculty of Commerce.

I am indebted to Professors D.M. Pestonjee, M.S. Saiyadain, T. Venkateshwar Rao, P. Verma and Ms. Vathsala who helped me in conceptualising this project during my stay at Indian Institute of Management, Admedabad as participant Faculty Development Programme.

I would like to thank Mr. K.K. Verma, Principal, Staff College, Bank of Baroda, Mr. Deva Singhamani, EDP cell Bank of Baroda, Ahmedabad, Mr. T.P. Raman and Mr. Rajeev of State Bank of India, Mr. Rashid Jilani, Punjab National Bank, and many other officers and employee of the banks I met during the course of this research.

I owe an expression of thanks to Professor Noorul Hasan, University Librarian, Aligarh Muslim University for his help in providing research facilities, Librarians and Staffs, Vikram Sarabhai Library, IIM, Ahmedabad, Ratan Tata Library and FMS Library, University of Delhi, Ministry of Finance (Banking Division) New Delhi, Head office and Staff College Library, Punjab National Bank New Delhi, Head Office Bombay and Staff College Library Gurgaon, State Bank of India, MDI Gurgaon and Indian Bank’s Association Library Bombay.
I am indebted to Dr. Shamim Ahmed for his willing help and support during the final stages of this project. I am beholden to my teachers Professor Najmul Hasan and Mr. K.M. Khan for their encouragement. Professor Azhar Kazmi had been generous with his time in discussing the various dimensions of this project at the initial stages. I am grateful to my Colleagues Dr. Khalid Azam, Ms. Zeeshan, Parvaiz Talib, Ashraf Naim, Valeed Ansari, M. Aamir Khan and Jamal A. Farooqui for their help in one form or the other. I am thankful to my students for their patient hearing of the various concepts I discussed from time to time in the classroom.

It would be ungrateful not to thank Sharif Ahmad and his family members where I got a home during my visits to Delhi for this work, and Mr. T.A. Khan and his family who welcomed me during my visit to Bombay.

I am indebted to my parents who had always been a source of inspiration and encouragement for me, and to my brothers and sister and other family members for their help.

I owe special debt to my daughter Ayisha and wife Gulshan for bearing the separation time and again since this research began and also for not complaining when I returned home late night from the library.

Finally, I am thankful to M/S Exclusive Commercial Centre, for composing the text in pagemaker.

Date: 22/1/94

(MOHAMMAD ISRARUL HAQUE)