Acknowledgement

The present thesis has been accomplished owing to proper guidance and assistance of so many persons and institutions. Amongst them, the first and foremost is my supervisor Dr. Ranjan Basu, former professor and Head of the Department of the Department of Geography, the University of Burdwan. The author owes immense gratitude to him. Without his guidance and inspiration, useful comments and constructive criticism it would not be possible to complete the work.

The author is also indebted to Dr. Sukla Bhaduri, Reader, Department of Geography, the University of Calcutta for her valuable suggestions and ideas. She is also indebted to Dr. Sunando Bandopadhyay, Head of the Department of Geography, the University of Burdwan and to Dr. Giyasuddin Siddique, Reader of the same department, for their kind cooperation and help.

The author extends her respect and gratitude to late Dr. Aurobindo Biswas, former Professor and Head, Department of Geography, Visva Bharati and to Miss. Manjusree Basu, former Head, Department of Geography, the University of Burdwan. The author is grateful to all other teachers of the Department of Geography, the University of Burdwan. She also extends thanks to Mrs. Geeta Guha, Senior Technical Assistant, Mrs. Rita Mukherjee, Junior Technical Assistant, Mr. Tapan Sar and Mr. Pravat Ghosal of the Pedology Laboratory of the same department, for their cooperation. The author acknowledges the help from various libraries --- National Library and British Council Library of Kolkata, Seminar Libraries of the Department of Geography in the University of Burdwan and Calcutta.

She gratefully acknowledges the help extended by Sundarban Development Board, South 24 Parganas District Headquarters and Principal Agricultural Office for their cooperation. She is also indebted to the respondents of the questionnaire schedule in Gosaba, Frazerganj, Bakkhali, Kakdwip and Sagar.

The author is thankful to Mr. Basubandhu Bhattacharyya, Junior Geographical Assistant of the National Atlas And Thematic Mapping Organization for cartographic assistance and to the DTP Operator, Mr. Vaskar Jyoti Sen of Rainbow Productions Limited for computer typing with every care and sincerity, thus giving the thesis a final shape. She bestows thank to Mr. Bhaskar Chongdar, Research Fellow of the University of Calcutta and expresses the sense of gratitude to Dr. Rohit Basu, Mrs. Mousumi Basu and Miss Rohini Basu for their cooperation.

It would be improper for the author if she fails to recognize indebtedness to her father Mr. Pradip Kumar De, mother late Chanda De and sister Mrs. Piali De without whose constant inspiration and support it would have been impossible to give this thesis a final shape.

Finally, she acknowledges the contribution of those authors and learned bodies who have been the perennial source of information.

Department of Geography
The University of Burdwan
Borddhaman, West Bengal

Signature of the Candidate