Acknowledgement

I humbly bow at the feet of my Lord, God Almighty for he was my path, strength and grace to complete my doctoral thesis successfully.

My respect and sincere appreciation goes to my guide Dr. S. Prasanna Kummar, Head of the Department of Zoology, Scott Christian College, Nagercoil, who right from the inception of this programme has volunteered fruitful ideas based on intellectual discussion on this topic for completing the thesis. I remember with gratitude the good words of hope uttered by him at the time of desperation to enhance my self-confidence and stimulate interest in the topic.

I express my thanks to Dr. P. Venkatesan, Dean of Science, Loyola College, Chennai, for his skilful and systematic help during the course of my thesis work. I gratefully remember his valuable suggestions during the course of this study and his help in identifying the specimens.

I am grateful to Dr. K. Krishna Moorthy, Deputy Director, Vector Control Research Centre, Pondicherry for providing library facilities.

My sincere gratitude to Dr. Deva Sobana Raj, the former principal and Dr. E. James R. Daniel the present principal of Scott Christian College, Nagercoil for providing facilities.

I am thankful to all the professors of the Department of Zoology, Scott Christian College, Nagercoil, for their timely help, encouragement and good words.
My special thanks to Mr. David Manoheran, Mr. Gunaseelan, and Mr. Arumaithekkam, Non – teaching staff, Department of Zoology, for their assistance in field collections.

My special thanks to Dr. G. Leo Justin, Entomologist, Horticulture research station, Pechipparai for identifying the insects. I wish to express my sincere thanks to my beloved husband Er. S. Jenin Sam Leslie who assisted me throughout the work. He stood by my side always with prayerful support. I specially thank my loving son J. Allen Jenish for his love and patience.

I remember with gratitude the help rendered by my parents, aunty, father – in – law, and mother – in –law who spend their today for my tomorrow. They have been the source of inspiration with guidance and prayers.

I sincerely thank my loving sister, E. Grace Jerrin and her family members for their helping hand and continued support in completing the thesis.

I owe my thanks to Nett Korner Nagercoil for computing the data and bringing my thesis to a good shape.

Special thanks to Mr. R.V. Maran and Mrs. Blessing Maran for their encouragement and support.