I am extremely indebted to my affectionate, revered and gifted teacher and research supervisor Prof. Md. Basha Mohideen, M.Sc. (Gold Medalist), Ph.D., FAZ, ENESA, M.G.Z.S. (West Germany), Professor of Zoology, Sri Krishnadevaraya University, Anantapur, Best Scientist awardee (Gold Medalist) by the National Environmental Science Academy, New Delhi; Best Teacher State awardee by the Government of Andhra Pradesh, Recipient of both National and International awards (Gold Medalist) from the Indian Institute of Ecology and Environment, New Delhi and UNESCO and former Principal; Dean, Faculty of Sciences, SK University for suggesting me this topic, for his invaluable guidance, keen interest and constant encouragement and for the many courtesies he extended during the course of this investigation. This thesis is only a result of inspiration I got from his dedication to the subject. It is a great privilege to be a research student under his able experted conscientious guidance.

My thanks are also due to the Local Fisheries Department at Anantapur, Government of Andhra Pradesh, for their kind help in supplying me the experimental material, fishes used in my investigation.

I am extremely thankful to Prof. P.W. Purushotham, Professor of Political Science & Public Administration, SK University, Anantapur for introducing me to my respected Research Supervisor and encouragement given to me throughout this investigation.
I am highly indebted to my beloved parents Smt. Ramanjanamma, and Sri Guruswamy and my brother Mr. Gurumurthy for their constant help, encouragement and blessings.

My special thanks are also due to my beloved late grand parents Smt. Subbamma and Sri Pulla Reddy for their dream to make me Doctorate.

I will be failing in my duty, if I do not tender to my heartful and sincere thanks to my sisters Ms. Umamaheswari and Ms. Vijayalakshmi for their nice cooperation and adjustments that made this investigation complete at the possible time.

I am grateful to all my colleagues and friends for all the encouragement extending to me during this academic endevour.

My thanks are also due to Sri V. Sahadevan and Mr. S. Sandeep for excellent printing of thesis.
