ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

With due regard and respect, I thank my beloved Supervisor Dr. S. Vijayalakshmi, M.Sc.,(Maths), M.Sc. (Math.Econ)., Ph.D., Reader, Department of Econometrics, School of Economics, Madurai Kamaraj University, for giving me an opportunity to undertake this research work under her able guidance and efficient supervision. But for her valuable suggestions and constant encouragement throughout the course of study, it would not have been possible for me to complete the research work successfully.

This study would not have taken the present shape but for the generous help, comments and valuable suggestions of Dr. T. Valuthi Varagunasingh, M.Sc., M.Phil., Ph.D., Head & Co-ordinator, School of Economics, Madurai Kamaraj University, at every stage of progress of the work from the beginning. I extend my heartfelt thanks to him.

I greatfully acknowledge the help of Professors Dr. M.S. Subramanian, Dr. N. Durairaj and other faculty members of the School of Economics, Madurai Kamaraj University.
I am greatly indebted to Thiru. K. Kumaraswamy, B.Sc. B.L., Secretary, Vivekananda College, Agasteeswaram, for having permitted to avail myself the Faculty Improvement Programme and sanctioned one full year study leave to undergo research work in the School of Economics.

I am thankful to Lion S. Kannappan, President and other members of the Management Committee, Vivekananda College, Agasteeswaram, for their help and advice in undergoing the research work.

I am highly thankful to Dr. M. Mathusoodana Perumal, M.A., M.Phil. Ph.D., Principal and Thiru V.T. Perumal, M.A., M.Phil., Head of the Dept. of Economics, Vivekananda College, Agasteeswaram for their encouragement to complete the research work.

The discussions I had with Dr. Abdul Aziz, Professor and Head, Department of Economics, Institute for Social and Economic Change, Bangalore, during my stay in the Institute from 2.5.1994 to 28.5.1994 while attending the Tenth Training Course in Research Methodology in Economics for College Teachers, has been highly beneficial for my thesis. I am so grateful Prof. Abdul Aziz for his illuminating novel ideas.
I also thank my friends and colleagues who have helped me at various stages of this work and in particular to Mrs. C. Santhakumari, Mrs. N. Susheela Devi, Mrs. P. Easwari Bai and Miss. M. Aruna.

I should thank Mr. George Varghese, Assistant Director, Handicrafts Marketing and Service Extension Centre, Ministry of Textiles, Government of India, Nagercoil and other officials in the Department, who supplied me with the necessary material from published and unpublished sources and supporting evidences.

I acknowledge the services of the authorities of the following libraries, who permitted me to refer to the rare collection of books, periodicals and reports: Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai; Centre for Development Studies (CDS), Trivandrum; Madras Institute for Development Studies (MIDS), Madras, Institute for Social and Economic Change (ISEC), Bangalore, Gandhigram Rural Institute, Gandhigram and Gandhi Museum, Madurai.

I acknowledge the inspiration given by the Lion Couple Ln. Edward Santiago and Ln. Mrs. Gunaseeli Santiago from Canada to complete my research work.
I appreciate the co-operation rendered by Mr. Kailasa Kumar, Jinna and Krishnakumar, our former students and Miss. Fatima Parveen, my friend and Mr. Arvind and Mr. Anand, my sons during the survey and other related works.

The study would not have been possible without the sacrifice and co-operation of my husband Dr.S. Ramakrishna Moorthy, Dept. of Economics, Vivekananda College, Agasteeswaram.

A special word of appreciation is due to Mr. N. Murugesan, Sri Balaji Computer Centre, Madurai Kamaraj University, for his neat execution of computer typing.

T.SRI RENGANAYAHI.