ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to express my indebtedness and devotion to my supervising teacher, Dr. V.J. Zacharias, Head of the Department of Zoology, St. Josephs' College, Devagiri, Calicut for all the valuable help he extended to me. I gratefully acknowledge him for his encouraging and unfailing guidance, scrupulous comments and kind scrutiny throughout the course of the work, without which this would never have been possible.

I am grateful to the Principal and Head of the Department of Zoology, S.B. College, Changanacherry for providing me facilities to carry out this work.

My thanks are due to Dr. Ramakrishnan Palat, former Head of the Department of Zoology, Govt. Arts and Science College, Calicut, for reading an earlier draft of this thesis and for his criticism and encouragement.

I am thankful to Dr. Santhosh Nampy, Lecturer, Department of Botany, St. Josephs' College, Devagiri, for his help in identifying the plants collected during this study.

I sincerely acknowledge the help from Mr. Pramod, Salim Ali Centre for Natural History and Ornithology, Coimbatore for his help in collecting literature. I owe my deep sense of gratitude to Sri. Radhakrishnan, Dy. Director and Dr. Suresh, Zoological Survey of India, Calicut, for providing me with the library facilities. I thank the Librarian, CWRDM, Calicut for helping me with the collection of literature.

My sincere thanks are due to Dr. Stuart Butchart, Post doctoral Fellow, Department of Zoology, Cambridge University, for his suggestion and the illuminating discussion I had with him on bird behaviour.
The encouragement and co-operation received from my colleagues in the Zoology Department, St. Josephs College is gratefully acknowledged. I am also grateful to Mr. Balu, Bina Photostat, Chenakkal, Calicut University, for his skill and expertise which give this work its present form and shape.

I extend my gratitude to my parents and brother for their timely help and encouragement. Lastly my immeasurable thanks flows to my wife Jeena and children, Allen and Milin for their patience, understanding, assistance and encouragement throughout this endeavour.

Boby Jose