ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I express my profound feeling of gratitude and appreciation to my research supervisor Sri A.V. Ramana, Lecturer in Commerce, Sri Krishnadevaraya University, Anantapur. I would be ever grateful to him for installing in me the aptitude of research and for his assistance at every stage in the completion of this work. It is only under his guidance that my sub-conscious and prematurely thought have assumed maturity. His constructive criticism and valuable suggestions have helped me in bringing out this piece of work. He is an unfathomable source of inspiration in my research career.

I owe a deep sense of gratitude to Prof. C.R. Reddy, Head, Dept. of Commerce for his encouragements and generous help in my research work.

I am thankful to Prof. H. Lajapathi Rai, Chairman, Board of Studies, Dept. of Commerce for his valuable suggestions.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to other faculty members Dept. of Commerce, S.K. University for their encouragement.
I am indebted to the authorities of National Institute of Rural Development (NIRD) and National Institute of Small Industries Extension Training (NISIET), Hyderabad for their permission to make use of Library facilities, and Dr. Azimuddin, Director, Oil Technological Research Institute (OTRI), Anantapur for having favoured me with necessary literature and information.

I wish to thank Mr. G. Anjanaiah, T. Madhu Sudhana and J. Vijaya Kumar for their help in designing master charts and tabulation work.

This study would not have taken the present shape without the constant affection and source of encouragement rendered by my mother G. Sankaramma and my eldest brother G. Eranna and other family members.

Last but not the least I wish to thank Mr. Satish, Nagarjuna Xerox Centre, for doing excellent typing of this dissertation.
