CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

LIST OF TABLES

CHAPTER I: INTRODUCTION AND DESIGN OF THE STUDY

Meaning and Definition of Consumer - Types of Consumers - Importance of Consumer Behaviour - Consumer Behaviour and awareness - statement of the problem - Review of literature - Need and significance of the study - Objectives of the Study - Sample Selection - Data Collection - Interpretation of the Data - Scope of the Study - Limitations of the study.

CHAPTER II: SOCIO-ECONOMIC PROFILE OF THE CONSUMERS

Age - Sex - Educational background - Type of family - Total family members - Total earning members of the family - monthly total income - monthly expenditure on food stuffs - monthly expenditure on edible oil.

CHAPTER III: CONSUMER DECISION MAKING PROCESS - AN ANALYSIS.

Knowledge about different types and brands of edible oil - sources of information - Agencies from whom the purchases are made - Knowledge about FEDCON - Reasons for using the same brand - Motivational factors - Factors considered while buying - Present usage of edible oil - opinion about the quality of edible oil - experience of testing made by the consumers - Tested brands - Mode of purchase - quantity bought - Frequency of purchase - suggestions given to others to buy a particular brand - Buying behaviour when decrease in price -
Alternative oils used due to increase in Price - Alternative oils opted due to non-availability of favourite oil - opinion about the statement that high priced edible oil contains the best quality - knowledge about artificial scarcity.

CHAPTER IV : CONSUMERISM AND CONSUMER AWARENESS

Need for consumer protection - consumer movement genesis and status - consumer movement in India - Gandhigi's view on consumer - consumer movement in Urban India consumer Protection Law in India. Consumer Protection Councils - Consumer Disputes Redressal Agencies - District State and National Forums - Knowledge about consumer movement - Knowledge about Consumer Protection Act - Sources in knowing about Consumer Protection Act-knowledge about Consumer Forums - knowledge about Consumer Protection Cell at S.K. University - knowledge about Food Inspector - knowledge about Weights and Measurement Dept. - Adulteration experienced by the consumers - Adulteration of oil - (Type-wise) - Experience about the low quality of oils sold at higher price - experience of difference of price regarding loose-oil from shop-to-shop observation of Maximum Retail Price on packed oils - knowledge among the consumers who are deceived with low quality of oil - knowledge about edible oil cases come under Consumer Protection Act.

CHAPTER V : CONCLUSIONS & SUGGESTIONS

APPENDIX : QUESTIONNAIRE

BIBLIOGRAPHY