ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I deem it a great privilege to express my respects and profound gratitude to my teacher and guide Dr. K. Bhaskar, Reader, Department of Rural Development, Sri Krishnadevaraya University, Anantapur, who has been to me much more than a mere Research Supervisor. Without his constant guidance, advice and effort, it would never have been possible for me to make any attempt of this sort.

I thank Prof. V. T. Naidu, Rector, S. K. University, Anantapur, for his useful comments on the methodological approach of the study. I thank Prof. Muralidharudu, for his help during the course of the present study.

I am thankful to Dr. V. Reddeppa Reddy, Head, Department of Rural Development, S. K. University, Anantapur, for his helpful comments and co-operation.

I am immensely grateful to Dr. N. V. Narayana, Professor, Department of Economics, S. V. University, Tirupati, for his encouragement and valuable suggestions in successfully completing the present study.

I owe special debt of gratitude to my beloved parents and the members of the family for their unstinting encouragement and support.
I will be failing in my duty if I do not acknowledge the immense help, I received from my friends and others in completing my research work.

During the course of this study, I had to seek the help of several institutions. Of whom, I highly thankful to Chief Planning Officer and his staff, Anantapur, General Manager, District Co-operative Central Bank, Anantapur, Chairman and the Staff of Sree Anantha Grameena Bank, Head Office, Anantapur, Manager, Sree Anantha Grameena Bank, Nallamada, and the concerned staff of the Single Window Co-operative Society, Vellamaddi. I express my thanks to the library authorities of S.K.University, Anantapur, S.V.University, Tirupati, Osmania University, Hyderabad and National Institute of Rural Development, Rajendra Nagar, Hyderabad, for providing me the library facility.

I am highly thankful to the sample farmers for providing me the required information pertaining to this study. The co-operation and the affection shown by the sample farmers towards me during the field study cannot be forgotten.

Lastly, I am thankful to Sri. P. Lokanna, for neatly typing the thesis.

ANANTAPUR

DATE : M. PURUSHOTHAMA REddy