Acknowledgements

It is with deep gratitude that I acknowledge my debt to my research supervisor and mentor Dr. R. Balachandran, Reader in English, Manonmaniam Sundaranar University, Tirunelveli. He made this research possible by lending his time, scholarship and interest. His discerning questions and enlightening hints were of immense help and his critical comments, an effective spur. I wish to thank his family for their genial hospitality.

The support rendered by my friend and colleague Ms. Vasantha Devadhas in many practical ways is beyond compare. I thank her for the hours of work and patience.

I am grateful to my uncle Mr. G. J. Manning whose typewriter sometimes worked for me all hours of the day. I thank my family who celebrated each step of my completion. I owe much to my friends in India and abroad who listened, urged me on and provided me with materials that were beyond my reach.

My special thanks is to the poet Heaney whose prompt response was a delight and encouragement to keep going.
Finally I acknowledge the help I received from the librarians of several institutions. To those of M. S. University, Tirunelveli, A.S.R.C., Hyderabad, C.I.E.F.L., Hyderabad, British Council, Thiruvananthapuram, University of Kerala, Thiruvananthapuram, American College, Madurai, Folklore Department of St. Xavier's College, Palayamcottai, Scott Christian College, Nagercoil, Concordia Theological Seminary, Nagercoil and Owen Trust Library, Nagercoil, I am indebted indeed.
