ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It gives me great pleasure to acknowledge my indebtedness and deep sense of gratitude to my respected teacher Prof. Dr. S.S.Singh, Head of the Department of Law, Burdwan University. Without his scholarly guidance, sympathetic and encouraging attitude, it would not have been possible for me to complete this research work.

I express my sense of gratitude to Prof. Mohit Bhattacharyya, former Vice-Chancellor of Burdwan University and an eminent Political Scientist, Prof. A.K.Mukherjee, Prof. Sekhar Ghosh of the Department of Political Science, Burdwan University, Prof. T.P.Tripathi, former Professor, Department of Law, Burdwan University and Prof. Amit Sen, Dean, Faculty of Law, Calcutta University. Many of the outstanding issues of the subject were clarified and many of my ideas crystallised as a result of long discussion with them.

I wish to express my thanks to my colleagues, many known and unknown persons who in various ways have helped and advised me throughout the preparation of this work.

My thanks are due to Librarians and the Staff of the Indian Law Institute Library, Delhi, American Library, Calcutta, National Library, Calcutta, Central Library, Burdwan University, who rendered valuable help in the preparation of this work.
Last but not the least, my thanks are especially due to Mr. Dipak Kumar Dubey and Mr. Amalesh Bhattacharyya who typed this thesis neatly and meticulously within record time.

Burdwan, (Paresh Kumar Acharya)
Nov., 2000