1.5.4 Period of Study
1.6 Chapter Preview
1.7 Scope of further application and Research
1.8 Limitation of our present work

CHAPTER-2 RESEARCH METHODOLOGY 45-91
2.1 An Introduction to Research Methodology
2.2 Objectives of Study
2.3 Types of Research
2.4 Choice of the Product Field
2.5 Choice of Brand
2.6 Choice of Medium
2.7 Choice of Media Vehicle
2.8 Proposed Methodology
2.8.1 Decoding of ads using Semiotics
2.8.2 Decoding of ads - A Psychoanalytical Approach
2.8.3 Decoding of ad- An Impact analysis
2.9 Research Design
2.9.1 The Research Design to be followed
2.9.1.1 Sampling Design
2.9.1.2 Sampling Design adopted in the Present Analysis
2.9.1.3 Forms of Sampling Design
2.9.1.4 Observational Design
2.9.1.5 Statistical Design

CHAPTER-3 DECODING OF ADS USING SEMIOTICS 92-144
3.1 An Invitation to Semiotics
3.2 Importance and Need for the application of Semiotics
3.2.1 Importance and Need for the application of Semiotics in General

   4.4.1 A Few Words on Psychoanalysis
4.5 Literature Review
   Decoding of a few ads of Boroline with Psychoanalytical tools
   4.5.1 A description of decoding
   4.5.2 Conclusion

CHAPTER 5

EFFECTIVENESS OF ADS- A SURVEY-BASED APPROACH

5.1 Introduction

5.2 Literature Review
5.3 Tabulation and Analysis of Data
   5.3.1 Analysis for Brand Recall
      5.3.1.1 Brand Recall for Beauty Cream (Male Responses)
      5.3.1.2 Brand Recall for Antiseptic Cream (Male Responses)
      5.3.1.3 Brand Recall for Beauty Cream (Female Responses)
      5.3.1.4 Brand Recall for Antiseptic Cream (Male Responses)
   5.3.2 Analysis on usage of signs/ symbols/ images
      5.3.2.1 Year wise frequency table on implication of signs/ symbols/ images: (Male Responses)

5.3.2.2 Year wise frequency table on implication of signs/ symbols/ images: (Female Responses):

5.3.3 Analysis for Targeted Age Group

5.3.3.1 Year wise frequency table on perceived targeted age group: (Male Responses)

5.3.3.2 Year wise frequency table on perceived targeted age group: (Female Responses)

5.3.4 Analysis for market segmentation

5.3.4.1 Year wise frequency table on perceived market segment: (Male Responses)

5.3.4.2 Year wise frequency table on perceived market segmentation (Female Responses)

5.3.5 Analysis for mode of promotion

5.3.5.1 Year wise frequency table on mode of promotion (Male Responses)

5.3.5.2 Year wise frequency table on mode of promotion (Female Responses)

5.3.6 Analysis on projected product attributes

5.3.6.1 Year wise ranking of attributes (Male Responses)

5.3.6.2 Year wise ranking of attributes (Female Responses)

5.3.6.3 Year wise comparative study on importance of attributes

5.3.7 Analysis for Cultural Cues:

5.3.7.1 Year wise frequency table on projection of culture (Male Responses)

5.3.7.2 Year wise frequency table on projection of culture (Female Responses)

5.3.8 Analysis for projected value system (Male Responses)

5.3.8.1 Year wise frequency table on perceived value system (Male Responses)

5.3.8.2 Year wise frequency table on perceived value system (Female Responses)

5.4 Conclusion

5.5 Semiotic vs. Survey based Analysis
