At the very outset I express my sincere gratitude towards my revered teachers and supervisor Dr. A. R. Shah, Assistant Professor (Geography), Centre of Central Asian Studies, University of Kashmir. His erudite scholarship has played a major role in the completion of this doctoral work. His humane approval has been even more inspiring and encouraging. I am beholden to him from the deeps of my heart.

It will be presumptions on my part to try to find out words to express my feelings and sentiments towards our young, hardworking, honest and dedicated Director Prof. G.M. Mir, for his overall scholarship and generosity. I express my sincere gratitude to him.

I owe my gratitude to Dr. Riyaz Rufai, Chief Librarian of Iqbal Library (K. U.) and his subordinates, especially internet incharge.

It would have never been possible for me to carry out the mooted idea of completing the thesis if my family members particularly brothers and sisters as well as other relatives would not have shouldered my responsibilities. My parents have born the burdens of financing me throughout my academic pursuit. Without their love and blessings, I simply could not have continued my studies. I obediently and dutifully offer my sincere gratitude to these benefactors of mine.

I am aware that there are others for too numerous to be given credit individually, to whom I owe special thanks for their substantial cumulative contribution.

GIS official, Mr. Akhtar Alam, Department of Geography, Kashmir University provided me accurate means and methods of Remote Sensing techniques and on the basis on which I was in a position to trace out decisive and meaningful results while having data analysis and their graphical representation. I am grateful to him.

I am also thankful to Professional Graphics for their quick, impeccable computerization of this thesis.

Allah alone is besought for help and on Him alone we dependent.
