A. Preface and Acknowledgement

The present work is an attempt to make a comparative study on Ambuvāci of Assam and Raja of Orissa. The study seems to be the first of this kind. The work has become possible only with the kind help received from well wishers, friends, authors of different books, articles and publications, informants belonging to different parts of the two regions. It is not possible to recall every one of them, but I shall certainly fail in my duties if I do not place on record here my sense of gratitude to at least few of them.

At the very outset I would like to express my deepest gratefulness to Dr. N. C. Sarma, Retd., Professor and Head, Department of Folklore Research, Gauhati University for cheerful and inspiring guidance from the very beginning, without which it would have been rather an impossible task for me to complete the work.

Next I must offer my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. K. C. Bhattacharyya, Head, Dept. of Folklore G.U and Dr. Anil Boro, lecturer of the same Dept. for their valuable suggestions and help.

I am also particularly grateful to Dr. B.K. Bhuyan, Principal, Gurukul Grammar School, Guwahati who has been persisting me from the beginning to go for this work.

I also put on record my sincere thank to two of my friends, Mayadhar Mohanty, lecturer, Chandbali College (Orissa) and Dr. Bimal Majumdar, lecturer, Nalbari College, who have extended the constant and immense help in my work throughout the period from the beginning.

I owe a deep debt of gratitude to Dr. Narayan Ch. Das, Principal, D.K. Girls’, College, Dr. Gajendra Adhikary, and other colleagues of my College, Dr. Krushna Charan Mohanty, lecturer, Chandbali College, Dr. B.D. Sarangi, lecturer, Nimapara College, Benjulata Swain, lecturer, Kakatpur College, Ajaya Das, Gagan Lenka (all from Orissa) for their valuable information and encouragement in the context of my present study.

I must thank to Lakshi Prabha Das and Narayan Borah who have computerised this thesis and enabled me to submit it in time.

Lastly, I owe a special debt of gratitude to my wife Dr. Bandana Bhuyan who has extended immense help in my work throughout the period from the beginning. It is but her timely advice and help I could bring out the study in present shape.

Date.................. (Ranjan Bhuyan)