NOTE ON METHODOLOGY

Underlining:

The main Heading and Sub-headings of a Chapter are given in block letters and underlined.

All book names in the main text are underlined. The initial letters of such words as Veda, Brāhmaṇa, Purāṇa etc. are given in Capital when these are written individually but when these words are suffixed with other words as Rgveda, Ita-reyabrahmaṇa etc. they are written in small type.

The technical words such as Śrāddha, Aśua, Vrata, Prayascitta etc. are written with the initial letter in Capital without underlining them.

The names of authors and books in the quotations occurring in foot-notes are written without the initial letter in capital. The names of books in such quotations are also not underlined. Only the names of books from which the reference is made is underlined.

Typing

The foot-notes are typed in double space like the text itself in order to make it convenient for putting diacritical marks as the quotations are mostly in Sanskrit and written in Roman script.
