The investigator's heart is bubbled over by thankfulness and gratitude towards all those who blessed her and helped her in the conduct and completion of the present study in various ways. She would like to make special mention of each of those good-willed hearts.

1. Dr. V. Madhava Kurup, under whose guidance she commenced the study, is the first master who deserves her folded hands and immense gratitude. She gratefully acknowledges the help rendered by him at different stages of the study and the blessings he showered upon her.

2. Dr. A. Sukumaran Nair, the great mentor, is the one to whom the investigator is indebted for the whole of the study and its fruitful completion. Only a handful from the store of his generosity, resourcefulness and erudition is all this work. The investigator feels herself short of apt words to express her boundless gratitude and respect to him in the deserving manner and to the required degree. She offers a bowed head and folded hands before him for everything she has received from him. She also wishes to place on record her special thanks to Mrs. A. Sukumaran Nair for the hospitality shown and encouragement given to her during the course of the study.

3. The investigator registers her heart-felt thanks to Dr. P.M. Jaleel, former Head and Dean of the School of Pedagogical Sciences, and Dr. Sudharma, Head and dean of Pedagogical Sciences, Mahatma Gandhi University, Kottayam for giving all the facilities and assistance in conducting this study. She is also extremely grateful to all teachers and the librarian of the school for giving academic support.

4. The investigator expresses deep-felt and respectful gratitude to Rev. Sr. Estelle, former Principal and Rev. Sr. Philomina Thomas, Principal, Mount Carmel College of Teacher Education, Kottayam for their constant encouragement, inspiring words and special prayers. She also sincerely thanks the staff of the College.
5. She places on record the co-operation and help rendered by the heads and staff of different institutions for collecting the needed data.

6. Dr. Emmanuel Thomas, Reader, Department of Psychology, Karyavattom Campus, deserves sincere thanks of the investigator for the generous help, in data-processing and computation work involved in the study.

7. She records special thanks to the librarians of SCERT, University Library, Department of Education, Thiruvananthapuram, for placing the library facilities at the disposal of the investigator.

8. Thanks to Dr. C.P. Srikantan Nair, former Principal, Farooq Training College, Feroke for giving valuable suggestions for the study.

9. Thanks to all her friends and students who helped in completing the present work in time.

10. ‘A friend in need is a sister indeed’ is the apt way to describe Dr. Ms. N. Jayasree, Senior Lecturer, N.S.S. Training College, Ottappalam. She has been a constant help and inspiration to the investigator. Her sense of gratefulness to Ms. Jayasree cannot be done justice with a few words. However she thanks her from the innermost of her heart.

11. Mr. J. Antony, Changanasserry deserves utmost and deep-felt gratitude of the investigator for generously adding to the quality of the literature of this work. Every ‘t’ crossed and every ‘i’ dotted properly attest to his sincere help.

12. Sincere and heart-felt thanks to Mr. P.J. Joseph, Chackalaykal, Thottakkad, for, to him these pages as well as the thesis book as a whole owe their form, style and all good looks. But for his help and involvement the visual and tangible mass would have been a totally different one.

13. The investigator is gratefully indebted to her husband Mr. Marian George and other family members for their encouragement and prayers.

14. Above all thanks to the God Almighty for everything.
