The brilliant ideas of applying bibliometric approaches to the Web leads to the birth of new research field 'Webometrics' by Thomas Crone Almind and Peter Ingwersen. I should extend my heart-felt thanks and regards to them.

I would like to express my deep and sincere gratitude to my supervisor, Professor Subal Chandra Biswas, Department of Library and Information Science, The University of Burdwan, West Bengal. His wide knowledge, vast experience and his logical way of thinking have been of immense value for me. His understanding, encouraging and personal guidance have provided me a good platform for preparing the thesis. I am deeply grateful to my co-supervisor, Dr. Parthasarathi Mukhopadhyay, Assistant Professor, Department of Library and Information Science, The University of Burdwan, West Bengal for his encouragement, innovative idea for the selection of Webometrics as research field. His constructive comments at every step of the work made me to stay in the right direction to achieve the objective of the research study.

Furthermore, I express my gratitude to Prof. Amit Kumar Bandyopadhyay, Head, Department of Library & Information Science and all the faculty members of this department for all sorts of administrative and intellectual guidance extended during the course of research work.

I warmly thank Dr. Mike Thelwall, Prof. & Head, Cybernetics Research Group, University of Wolverhampton, UK for his valuable advice and clarifying my doubts promptly through email during the progress of research. His personal crawlers helped for webometric data collection for the purpose. I wish to record my sincere thanks to Dr. Isidro Aguillo, Head CINDOC-CSIC, Madrid, Spain for his guidance through informative reply in response to webometric queries.

I would like to extend my gratitude to Dr. A. K. Chakraborty, Librarian, Bose Institute, Kolkata and Dr. B. Sutradhar, Librarian, IIT Kharagpur for their cooperation in providing facilities to access “Scopus”, citation database for data collection.

My sincere thanks are due to Dr. Vijayakumar M, In-charge, Central Library and Mr. Abhijit Mustafi, Assistant Professor, Department of Computer Science and Engineering, B.I.T, Mesra, Ranchi for their support and suggestions.

Many thanks to my family and friends for their indulgence and patience during this period. Last but not least, I should extend my loving heart-felt thanks to my wife Tapati and my lovely daughter Samadrita. Without their encouragement, understanding and moral support, it would have been impossible for me to accomplish this dissertation.
