ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The bulk of the material which forms the basis of this study was gathered with the kind help and co-operation received from many persons. I am highly indebted to my esteemed teacher and guide, Professor Dr. Renu Debi, who has inspired me with confidence at every step that I have taken.

I am also immensely grateful to the Principals and the teachers of the selected schools who have found time out of their busy schedule to observe the children and take note of their social development.

To the parents of the children, especially the mothers who have welcomed me into their homes and found time to talk and discuss with me the social behaviour of their children, I can never adequately express my thanks. A special thanks to the 240 innocent little children who served as my subjects in this research work.

It is with pleasure that I record the interest shown to me by my friends and colleagues in this study.

I am also grateful to Dr. Mann Singh, Head of the Department of Psychology, G. U. and Mr., Gautam Sarma, Lecturer Department of English, Cotton College, Guwahati, for their help and co-operation.

I would also like to thank Mr. P. K. Baruah and Mr. S. V. S. M. Sastry for their constant encouragement and help. My indebtedness to the authors mentioned in the text and bibliography is obvious.

Finally, I must thank my parents, more particularly my father, Mr. Ram Goswamee whose many sided support saw this study through, especially so, during the period when it overshot the original time limit on account of various reasons.

Gayatree Goswamee.
