LIST OF TABLES

Table 1.1 - Marbisu/Mawroh (Gender distribution of respondents) 25
Table 1.2 - Marbisu/Mawroh - Age of respondents 26
Table 1.3 - Marbisu/Mawroh - Religion of respondents 27
Table 1.4 - Marbisu/Mawroh - Educational qualifications of respondents 27
Table 1.5 - Marbisu/Mawroh - Occupation of respondents 28
Table 1.6 - Category of Questions 31
Table 2.1 - Population distribution in Khasi & Jaintia Hills 38
Table 3.1 - The elder kñi has more authority than the younger kñi 84
Table 3.2 - The elder kñi has more authority than the younger kñi (Gender perspective) 85
Table 3.3 - The elder kñi has more authority than the younger kñi (Age perspective) 85
Table 3.4 - Kñi is essential (Rural-urban perspective) 88
Table 3.5 - Kñi is essential (Age perspective) 89
Table 3.6 - Kñi is essential (Gender perspective) 90
Table 3.7 - Kñi is essential (Religious perspective) 91
Table 3.8 - Kñi is essential (Educational perspective) 92
Table 3.9 - Kñi is essential (Occupational perspective) 93
Table 3.10 - Kñi has authority (Rural-urban perspective) 94
Table 3.11 - Kñi has authority (Age perspective) 95
Table 3.12 - Kñi has authority (Gender perspective) 95
Table 3.13 - Kñi has authority (Religious perspective) 96
Table 3.14 - Kñi has authority (Educational perspective) 97
Table 3.15 - Kñi has authority (Occupational perspective) 98
Table 3.16 - Kñi is the priest of the kur/kpoh/ing (Rural-urban perspective) 101
Table 3.17 - Kñi is the priest of the kur/kpoh/ing (Age perspective) 102
Table 3.18 - Kñi is the priest of the kur/kpoh/ing (Gender perspective) 103
Table 3.19 - Kñi is the priest of the kur/kpoh/ing (Religious perspective) 103
Table 3.20 - Kñi is the priest of the kur/kpoh/ing (Educational perspective) 104
Table 3.21 - Kñi is the priest of the kur/kpoh/ing (Occupational perspective) 105
Table 3.22 - Kñi is the mediator of the kur/kpoh/ing (Rural-urban perspective) 107
Table 3.23 - Kñi is the mediator of the kur/kpoh/ing (Age perspective) 107
Table 3.24 - Kñi is the mediator of the kur/kpoh/ing (Gender perspective) 108
Table 3.25 - Kñi is the mediator of the kur/kpoh/ing (Religious perspective) 109
Table 3.26 - Kñi is the mediator of the kur/kpoh/ing (Educational perspective) 110
Table 3.27 - Kñi is the mediator of the kur/kpoh/ing (Occupational perspective) 111
Table 3.28 - Kñis who hold important positions command more respect (Rural-urban perspective) 114
Table 3.29 - Kñis who hold important positions command more respect (Gender perspective) 114
Table 3.30 - Kñi upholds the cultural heritage (Rural-urban perspective) 115
Table 3.31 - Kñi upholds the cultural heritage (Age perspective) 116
Table 3.32 - Kñi upholds the cultural heritage (Gender perspective) 116
Table 3.33 - Kñi upholds the cultural heritage (Religious perspective) 117
Table 3.34 - Kñi upholds the cultural heritage (Educational perspective) 118
Table 3.35 - Kñi upholds the cultural heritage (Occupational perspective) 119
Table 3.36 – Khi is the instructor and educator (Age perspective) 123
Table 3.37 – Khi is the instructor and educator (Gender perspective) 124
Table 3.38 – Khi is the instructor and educator (Religious perspective) 125
Table 3.39 – Khi is the instructor and educator (Educational perspective) 126
Table 3.40 – Khi is the instructor and educator (Occupational perspective) 127
Table 4.1 – Present status of the khi has diminished (Rural-urban perspective) 132
Table 4.2 – Present status of the khi has diminished (Gender perspective) 133
Table 4.3 – Present status of the khi has diminished (Religious perspective) 134
Table 4.4 – Many khis are illiterate (Rural-urban perspective) 146
Table 4.5 – Many khis are illiterate (Religious perspective) 147
Table 4.6 – Khis who are educated wield more influence (Rural-urban perspective) 148
Table 4.7 – Khis who are educated wield more influence (Gender perspective) 149
Table 4.8 – The khi who are economically better off has more influence (Rural-urban perspective) 151
Table 4.9 – The khi who are economically better off has more influence (Gender perspective) 152
Table 4.10 – Many khis today do not know their roles anymore (Rural-urban perspective) 154
Table 4.11 – Many khis today do not know their roles anymore (Religious perspective) 155
Table 4.12 – Khi visits his kur/kpoh/ing (Rural-urban perspective) 155
Table 4.13 – Khi visits his kur/kpoh/ing (Religious perspective) 156
Table 4.14 – Khi admonishes his kur/kpoh/ing members (Gender perspective) 157
Table 4.15 – Khi admonishes his kur/kpoh/ing members (Religious perspective) 158
Table 4.16 – Khi takes decisions in family matters (Gender perspective) 158
Table 4.17 – Khi takes decisions in family matters (Religious perspective) 159
Table 4.18 – Khi supervises marriages of his kur/kpoh/ing members (Gender perspective) 160
Table 4.19 – Khi supervises marriages of his kur/kpoh/ing members (Religious perspective) 161
Table 4.20 – Khi reconciles all feuds within the kur/kpoh/ing (Rural-urban perspective) 162
Table 4.21 – Khi reconciles all feuds within the kur/kpoh/ing (Religious perspective) 163
Table 4.22 – Younger people do not know their khi anymore (Rural-urban perspective) 175
Table 4.23 – Younger people do not know their khi anymore (Religious perspective) 176
Table 5.1 – Children respect and obey their fathers (Rural-urban perspective) 186
Table 5.2 – Children respect and obey their fathers (Educational perspective) 187
Table 5.3 – Children respect and obey their fathers (Occupational perspective) 188
Table 5.4 – A father is closer to his children than the khi (Rural-urban perspective) 189
Table 5.5 – A father is closer to his children than the khi (Gender perspective) 190
Table 5.6 – A father is closer to his children than the khi (Religious perspective) 189
Table 5.7 – A father wields more authority in his children’s house (Rural-urban perspective) 191
Table 5.8 – A father wields more authority in his children’s house (Gender perspective) 192
Table 5.9 – A father wields more authority in his children’s house (Educational perspective) 193
Table 5.10 – Present status of the kpa has gone up (Rural-urban perspective) 194
Table 5.11 – Present status of the kpa has gone up (Age perspective) 195
Table 5.12 – Present status of the kpa has gone up (Gender perspective) 196
Table 5.13 – Present status of the kpa has gone up (Religious perspective) 196
Table 5.14 – Present status of the kpa has gone up (Educational perspective) 197
Table 5.15 – Present status of the kpa has gone up (Occupational perspective) 198
Table 5.16 – More kpas are educated today (Rural-urban perspective) 200
Table 5.17 – Educated fathers exercise greater influence on their families (Rural-urban perspective) 201
Table 5.18 – Educated fathers exercise greater influence on their families (Educational perspective) 202
Table 5.19 – Greater earning fathers have more influence (Rural-urban perspective) 203
Table 5.20 – Greater earning fathers have more influence (Occupational perspective) 204
Table 5.21 – Fathers hailing from rich and influential families have greater influence (Gender perspective) 205
Table 5.22 – The father should replace the khi today (Rural-urban perspective) 207
Table 5.23 – The father should replace the khi today (Age perspective) 208
Table 5.24 – The father should replace the khi today (Gender perspective) 209
Table 5.25 – The father should replace the khi today (Religious perspective) 210
Table 5.26 – The father should replace the khi today (Educational perspective) 211
Table 5.27 – The father should replace the khi today (Occupational perspective) 212
Table 5.28 – The father nurtures his children (Rural-urban perspective) 213
Table 5.29 – The father disciplines and admonishes his children (Rural-urban perspective) 214
Table 5.30 – The father supervises family affairs (Rural-urban perspective) 215
Table 5.31 – The father takes decisions in family matters (Rural-urban perspective) 215
Table 5.32 – The father visits his kur/kpoh/ing members (Rural-urban perspective) 216