Acknowledgements

Blessings of Almighty, encouragement of family members, timely help, continuous guidance and support from my friends and peers have helped me in completing this doctoral thesis work. I modestly thank all those well wishers whose constant encouragement made this work possible and it is a pleasant feeling to express my gratitude to all those who contributed to achieve my desired goal.

I express my deep sincere gratitude, indebtedness and heart-felt thanks to my esteemed research guide, Dr. Santh Rani Thaakur, Professor, Department of Pharmacology, Institute of Pharmaceutical Technology, Sri Padmavati Mahila Visvavidyalayam, who was always there to peruse, advice and extend best possible support. I am fortunate to have her as my guide. Under her guidance I learnt different ways to approach a research problem which ultimately facilitated to accomplish my goal. Her constant support and critical evaluation made me to stay focused on my work and her encouragement motivated me to travel deep into this research. She also guided me during the thesis-drafting period by supporting, advising and giving excellent ideas which resulted in this thesis.

I would like to extend my sincere thanks to Dr. B Jeevanajyothi, BOS Chair person, Professor and Head, Institute of Pharmaceutical Technology, Sri Padmavathi Mahila Visvavidyalayam, for her support to carry out the study.

I express my sincere thanks to Prof. K.V.S.R.G. Prasad, Prof. K. Bharathi, Prof. R. Nagaraju, Institute of Pharmaceutical Technology, Sri Padmavati Mahila Visvavidyalayam, for their cooperation.

I express my deep regards and thanks to Dr. M. Vidyavathi, Dr. A. Sridevi, Dr. G. Rajitha, Dr. B. Sailaja, Dr. Indira mujib, Dr. K. Madhavi, Mrs. S. Jyothsna Rani, Mrs. B. Ramya Kuber and Ms. Shaheen for their help, affection, moral support, valuable suggestions, constant cooperation and also sharing their ideas and extending their support during the period of this work.

It’s my privilege to thank Dr. V. Madhavan, Principal, M. S. Ramaiah College of Pharmacy, for providing permission, excellent infrastructure and resources to accomplish this research project and materialize my Ph. D dream.

I specially thank Gokula Education Foundation, for giving me an opportunity to pursue my doctoral studies in their Institutes.

I am deeply indebted to Mrs. Lavanya, Ms. Sailaja and Ms. Swapna, my fellow research scholars who helped me all the way throughout my thesis compilation. With mere words it is impossible to describe the help rendered by them despite of their busy research schedule.

I am grateful to Prof. Anita Murali, HOD, Dept. of Pharmacology for providing all the facilities and support.

I gratefully thank my friends Mrs. E. Maheswari and Ms. K. Mamatha for their prayers, support, motivation and encouragement for successfully completing this work. Also, their criticism and constructive comments during proof reading of this thesis helped me to give a good shape to my thesis. I am thankful that in the midst of their busy schedule, they spent lot of their valuable time and offered me a great support in all means to achieve this.

I convey my deepest sense of gratitude to Mr. Earnest Simon, Mr. Ramaseshu, Dr. A.J.M Christina and all my teachers at K.M. College of Pharmacy, who have molded me into a person that I am today.

I also express special thanks to Dr. Kishore Alva, Isha Diagnostics, Bangalore for helping me carryout histopathological studies. I thank Mr. Pavan, who helped me in HPLC studies. I also thank my friend Mr. Vimal Kumar for his encouragement.
I extend my thanks to animal house non-teaching staffs Mrs. Jahnavi, Mr. Balaji, Mr. Narashima and Mr. Nagaraj for their support. I also thank all the teaching and non-teaching staffs of MSRCP for their cooperation.

I am also indebted to Mr. Sastha Ram V. K, Mr. Veluri Jayaram and Mrs. Bharathi Jayaram for their encouragement throughout my research.

I sincerely thank my dear father Mr. V. Ganesan, who provided me education, for his great support and encouragement throughout the period of my research. I express my sincere thanks to my loving mother Mrs. Rajalekshmi for her affection and support. My earnest gratitude to my father-in-law, Mr. A Murukesa Pillai and mother-in-law Mrs. K Maheswari Ammal for their sacrifice, love and blessings. I cannot just stop with a word of thanks to my dearest sister-in-law Ms. Bindu M for her great help in encouragement throughout my project and thesis compilation. I thank my brother-in-law Dr. P. Vinayaka Jothi and sister-in-law Mrs. Priya M for their motivation.

As I start the last paragraph of my acknowledgements, the only person in my mind is my dear husband, Mr. Pradish M. I understand the difficulties he has been through all these years as I was only concentrating on my research work. He was courageous and was very helpful and he is the person to design and shape my thesis.

At last I would like to acknowledge my sweet daughter Baby Saranya P who missed me and my care due to the work related stress and I feel relaxed whenever I could spend little possible time with her and she became my source of inspiration.

Thanks to all my teachers, friends, well wishers and relatives who don’t find a mention here, but to whom I remain indebted.

Saraswathy G R