ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am ever thankful to my predecessors and the authors who have done some works on the various aspects of the Karbi community including their speeches which give me some opportunities in undertaking this research work on the language and culture of the Karbis.

I must express my deep sense of gratitude and sincere appreciation to Dr. S. N. Goswami, M.A., D.Phil. Rabindra Nath Tagore Professor and Head of the Department of Modern Indian Languages, Gauhati University under whose sound guidance this piece of work has been done with satisfaction. I am sure it would have not been possible for me to start with this work without kind supervision of Prof. Goswami. To speak the truth Prof. Goswami took much pain and interest in correcting the hand written manuscript. I must gratefully acknowledge his all such interest.

I also offer my sincere thanks to the Deputy Commissioner, Karbi Anglong district, and the authorities of the Karbi Anglong District Council and their assistance. I am ever thankful to the Education Officer and the Secretary of the Primary Education Board, Diphu who have always been helpful to me.

I must mention my principal informants, Sri R.B. Terang, L. Teran, Ch. Hamche, Ch. Timung, L. Ranghang, J. Rangpi, M. Teran, R. Teran, Ch. Ticu, Ch. Inghi, few other Karbi boys and girls and other village people, who helped me in various ways in collecting data for this study; for all such help and cooperation I must express my gratefulness to all of them.

I should also mention the names of Dibrugarh University Library staff, the Librarian and staff of the K.K. Handique Library and Calcutta National Library staff, Meghalaya State Library, Shillong staff, staff of Karbi Anglong District Council Library, Diphu and Diphu Govt. College Library staff, who helped me in finding out the necessary books, journals and other references. I am also thankful to the Gauhati University authorities for giving me the facilities of doing my research as a registered Researcher of the University.

I must express my heartfelt thanks to some of my intimate friends, teachers and colleagues who have also encouraged me directly and indirectly by way of enquiring regarding the progress of my research.

Finally, I feel I should extend my countless thanks to Sri K. Gogoi, who by taking much troubles typed out this thesis within a very short period of time.

Arpana Konwar
Lecturer in Assamese,
Sibsagar College
Joysagar, Assam

Date: 18.1.91.