ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This thesis owes much to the supervisory guidance and valuable advice, given to me by my research guide, former Head of the Department, of Political Science, Gauhati University, former Director of Women Studies Centre, Gauhati University, a writer, poet and social activist of repute Dr. Kunja Medhi, I extend my gratitude to the teaching staff of the Department of Political Science, Gauhati University, for their valuable suggestions and encouragement.

A deep sense of gratitude goes to my father journalist, social activist, freedom fighter and a legendary figure of Assam, Late Kamala Saikia, who's exemplary service to the mankind have always been my source of inspiration. I honestly believe that it is due to his blessings, i have been able to complete my research work.

A note of gratitude goes to my daughter Atlanta who have been extending, moral and visible support to me in completing my thesis.

I am grateful to my long standing friend, advocate Arundhati Choudhury and her husband Anupjyoti Choudhary, for their support and cooperation in printing this thesis. Without their support, I would have been at a loss. My sincere gratitude goes to Dr. Bhaskarjyoti Bora, lecturer, Department of Commerce, G.U. for extending moral support, he offered during the period of my research work.

Mention should be made of, Sahitya Academy awardee, poet and novelist, late Navakanta Barua, who during his lifetime has advised me to complete my research project. It is my earnest desire to express my thanks and gratitude to the Editor, Ajir Asom, a senior journalist, Radhika Mohan Bhagawati, for inspiring me throughout, and for giving me suggestive guidelines for the thesis, to add, i am also thankful to him for giving me the opportunity to run a regular personal column in his newspaper on women, since last five years, which has proved to be a great help in my research work.
It is my earnest desire to extend my note of gratitude to my neighbour for last five years, Tony Macnamara, the Chief of World Bank Project, Assam, and his wife Christine from Australia, for their immense help and response in getting authentic details and information on the women and housewives in Indonesia and Australia. Thanks goes to my friend for years, a kind Australian lady, Sonia, who have been anchoring and boosting my energy to complete my research work.

It will be a sin of ungratefulness if I do not mention the name of Dr. Anupjoyti Choudhury and my friend, S.P. Meghalaya, Prasanta Sagar Changmai and Shri Gautam Sharma for their suggestion and guideline, they have offered, at the initial stage of my research project. Mention should be made of my students of "B. Baruah College, Himanta, Baba, Sandip and few others for their help and assistance in my fieldwork studies. My sincere gratitude goes to my cousin Nayan for his valuable suggestive guideline on the statistical part of my thesis. It is my earnest desire to extend my note of gratitude to Debashish Sharma, for supplementing few books from the Governor's library. I find no material word to gratefully acknowledge the housewives from all the areas, who have participated in primary data collection process. Thanks goes to all the family members of the greater Guwahati, and all the constituencies of Kamrup, for their co-operation while conducting the interview sessions. I extend my thanks to all the officials of the Women Study Centre, Guwahati University, Jawaharlal Nehru, University, Delhi, Jain Library Ahmedabad, Central Library Kolkata, and District Library of Guwahati, Department of Social Science Delhi, library, Gauhati University, Gyan Vigyan Samiti, for their substantial co-operation. My sincere thanks goes to my friends for years, Kabita, Naju, Biju, my fan follows, all over Assam, for their inspiring words, they extended during my research period. I extend my thanks to Dr Nirmal Probha Bordoloi, a literature of repute and Suchibrata Ray Choudhury for their inspiring words and valuable suggestions. I also offer my thanks to Ilu Devi Barua, Debu Chowdhury, Satyen, for their co-operation, suggestions and support in completing my thesis.
Last but not the least, I would like to thankfully mention the name of the printer of this thesis, Purbadesh Mudran and the owner of the press, Prasanta Sharma and all the employees of the Purbadesh Mudran for printing the pages. I specially mention the name of Jayanta Talukdar, Abhijit Mishra, Ganesh Kumar, Tarun Das and Dimbeswar Sonowal for their co-operation in printing and typing this thesis.

At last I formally thank all the persons residing in Assam, for co-operating me by giving their times and effort and helping me in getting answers to my queries related to my research project. I extend my thanks and gratitude to all such persons, whose blessings, goodwill, advice, suggestions and criticisms have geared me up in fulfilling my objectives in submitting this thesis for the degree of Ph.D under Gauhati University.

Akashitora Saikia
Kharghuli
Guwahati - 4
16. 3. 2004