7.3 Conclusions:

The appraisal of managerial attainment of Namrup Unit reveals that, its fails to prove its worthy existence. Due to heavy loses incurred by the Unit, it drained away all its vitality and strength. It also failed to achieve its objective for which it was created. Keeping in view, the importance of this industry towards the national economy, it is essential to create a climate for the proper utilization of the public money through the improvement of the standard of management - both physical and financial. To conclude, a concerted effort on the part of all concerned parties is the only solution for restoring its vitality and strength.