Acknowledgements

I express my sincere gratitude to my respected guide, Dr Sandhya Goswami, Department of political science, Gauhati University for her constant encouragement and supervision of my research work.

I am indebted to numerous people, organizations, offices and institutions that have helped me with data, information and suggestions for my work. In this regard, special mention may be made of Prof. D C Goswami of Environmental Science department, Prof. Anuradha Dutta and Prof. Monirul Hussain of Political Science department, Gauhati University for their valuable advice and suggestions. I shall be failing in my duties if I do not express a word of sincere appreciation to those generous members who had taken pains to answer my questions or permitted interviews to me.

My special thanks are due to the librarians and the staff concerned of the following libraries: The Indian Institute of Public Administration, New Delhi, the TERI library at the India Habitat Centre, New Delhi, the Nehru Memorial Library, New Delhi, the Hindu College, Delhi University, the Omeo Kumar Das Institute of Social Change, Guwahati, the Women’s Study Research Centre, Gauhati University, the Department of Political Science and Department of Environmental Science, Gauhati University who were extremely helpful to me at the time of collection of research material.

Besides, I would like to express my gratitude to various authors whose works are quoted in this thesis. I express my deep appreciation and thankfulness to my family members, specially my parents and my husband, who have helped and encouraged me during the period of my research. I thank my daughter for her patience and understanding when I had to be away numerous times in relation to my research.
