ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I acknowledge my debt of gratitude to Dr. V. Vankata Rao, M.A., Ph.D., the emeritus Professor of Gauhati University (Department of Political Science) and to my guide Dr. (Mrs.) L. Das, M.A., Ph.D., Reader, Department of Education, University of Gauhati, for their kind and valuable suggestions and supervision of this work without which this thesis would not have been completed. I have to express profound gratitude to my husband Shri H.N. Saikia for his encouragement and help in my field work.

Again I am obliged to Eastern Theological College, Jorhat; Nagaon Mission School; Office of the School Inspector, Nagaon; Office of the School Inspector, Diphu and Directorate of Elementary Education, Kahilipara, Gauhati, with regard for their kind advice, helpful suggestions and making available valuable materials in the accomplishment of this work. I shall always remember the staff of the District Council but in particular the Head Assistant and Sub-Inspectors of Schools of the Primary Education Board of the District Council, Diphu, who assisted me in collecting data for this approach. I am also indebted to these respective offices for permission to quote from their Reports and Appendixes.

I am extremely grateful for the unstinted co-operation, help and hospitality extended to me by the people of different walks of life during my field work and data. collection. I would like to express my sincere thanks to the Headmasters, teachers of different Primary Schools of the district, guardians and the local 'Sarthe' (village headman) etc.

My thanks are due to Mr. B. Das who inspite of his laudable work carefully typed my manuscript.

I must put on record my gratefulness to all the authors and editors whose works I consulted. I would like to express my appreciation and thanks to all who were associated with this dissertation.

At last I hope those not mentioned will forgive me, in the knowledge that they are cherished in my heart even if they do not yet appear in cold print.
