The customary remark that Darrang district is backward in education, must be removed. True, the district has a large population comprising the Bodo-Kacharis, Nepalis and immigrant Muslims, who are educationally backward traditionally. To uplift this situation, a mass literary campaign must be launched. It is to be noted that only the educated parents lay more emphasis on the education of their children.

Further, the district is extremely backward in industrial development, while it is reasonably rich in staple crops, cash crops, forest products and water resources. Public entrepreneurs and government efforts must take a positive role to develop the district industrially based on the known agricultural resources.

The cultural history of the district is quite old and prosperous. It needs better publicity to keep pace with the time. Government media is to come forward for highlighting its positive aspects.

Lastly, a broad generosity in public sentiment with love and respect to each other will generate an egalitarian society to achieve its desired goal and education will definitely play the key role in it on a peaceful atmosphere.
