ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This thesis, from the stage of conceptualisation of the topic to that of designing the layout, owes much to my respected guide Dr. Ms. Swarnalata Das, Professor and Head of the Department of Education, Gauhati University, Assam, India without whose relentless efforts and constant encouragement, it would not have been possible on my part to accomplish the task. I am immensely obliged to her for her meticulous guidance, constructive criticism and cooperation and also for inculcating a keen sense of discipline and responsibility throughout the course of investigation.

I am deeply indebted to the authorities of the University Grants Commission (UGC), New Delhi and National Institute of Educational Planning and Administration (NEIPA), New Delhi for their kind permission, cooperation and assistance extended to me for using the library facilities. I also wish to express my sincere thanks to the staff of the libraries of Gauhati University, Omi Kumar Das Institute of Social Change and Development, Department of Historical and Antiquarian Studies, Assam and all other institutions and colleges which I have visited for their cooperation and help in locating reference books and materials.

I would like to place on record my profound gratitude to the Director of the Academic Staff College under the Gauhati University especially Dr. Purna Sarma for providing valuable inputs during the study. Course Coordinators and Resource Persons also deserve special mention in this connection.

The manifold cooperation of the entire staff of the Academic Staff College was noteworthy. I extend my sincere thanks to all the respondents who spared their valuable time to answer the questionnaire.

I take this opportunity to offer my sincere gratitude to my uncle Dr. Annada Charan Bhagabati for offering me guidance and valuable suggestions at times in the formulation of this thesis.
My sincere gratitude is due to the Principal and my colleagues of Latindra Bharali College, Guwahati for the suggestions, support and encouragement extended to me during the course of my study.

Finally, I recall with happiness and thanks the inspiration and support of my family members and well wishers without which the accomplishment of the task would not have been possible.
