ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I would not exaggerate if I confess that the works of Patrick White have left an indelible mark upon me. For this, I can never forget the kind and invaluable guidance of Dr. P. R. Ketoky, Professor, Department of English, Calcutta University, who introduced me to the world of White and helped me at every stage of my work.

I am much indebted to Professor C. E. Anniah Sound, editor, The Literary Yearbook who encouraged me to visit South India for works on Commonwealth Literature. His help during my stay at Mysore and later in procuring a number of books and articles cannot be overemphasized. Mr. S. C. S. Oost's warm hospitality at that time requires special mention.

Thank Mr. C. D. Narasimhaiah, editor, The Literary Criterion for allowing me the use of the library at 'Beyja Kotes', Mysore. I also owe my thanks to Mr. S. K. Pandjape, Hyderabad Central University, and the Australian High Commission, New Delhi, for their various help rendered to me. My heartfelt thanks are due to Mr. Krishna Varma, Lecturer, Osmania College, Mysore, who very kindly gave me a number of books and articles relating to my work. I also remember with thanks Mr. C. L. Verma, Director, M.I.E.E., and the staff for their prompt response in arranging for my stay at the institute on my visit to Hyderabad. Thanks are also due to G. Chowdhury.
and Sangeeta Choudhury, New York for sending me a book on White. Mr. Somitra Sen is also remembered for his help in acquiring relevant articles from Calcutta. I am indebted to Sqn. LA. A.C. Kalita and Mallika Kalita, Hyderabad, P. & Mrs. J. M. Deb Nath, Bangalore, Mrs. Zinotic Medhi, Mrs. Basanti Choudhury, Mr. P. Nath and Kalpana Nath, Guwahati who offered various assistance at different stages of my work. My thanks are also due to members of the staff of National Library, Calcutta, C.I. B.F.L. Library, Hyderabad, the Institute of Commonwealth and American Studies and English Language, ysore, and K.K. Mandique Library, Guwahati for the help they extended to me for my work. My thanks are also due to Sri. Kumar Saha and Sri Surya Das for their assistance in typing the thesis. Lastly, I owe my thanks to my husband, P. R. K. Choudhury for his encouragement and to my two little children, Shankari and Shalin, who have solemnly kept away from my work table throughout the entire period of work.
