ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This work of enquiry would not have been initiated and completed, but for the encouragement and guidance of one of the foremost scholars of modern India, Dr. V.V. Rao, Emeritus Professor, Guwahati University. Dr. Rao is associated with all the major Universities of India and his rich contributions in his field of advanced learning have received due recognition abroad. It is his complete dedication to the cause of higher study and research, which has deeply impressed all who have come in contact with such a simple, quiet unassuming savant who commands universal respect. By his intellectual integrity and concern for his students' welfare Dr. Rao always reminds me of my teachers of the London University Institute of Education. His large benefactions to the Universities of N.E. Region have given his erudition a spiritual glow. I am deeply grateful to Dr. Rao.

Some of the materials used in the present work were collected from the British Museum Library and the Commonwealth Library, London. I am indebted to them. My thanks are due to the National Library, Calcutta, Assembly Library, Dispur, and last but not the least, I am grateful to Shri A.H. Choudhury, M.A.B.T., Dip. in Archives keeping, Keeper of Records, Assam Secretariat (Civil) Library, who very kindly permitted me to consult some important educational documents in their Library.
