This work has been possible only with various kinds of help received from a host of well-wishers, friends and acquaintances and a very big number of informants belonging to different parts of the district. I am taking this opportunity of acknowledging my indebtedness to all of them. While the production of a full list of all of them will be an almost impossible task, I shall certainly be failing in my duties if I do not place on record my sense of gratitude to at least some of them.

My foremost and heaviest debt is to Dr Praphulladatta Goswami, M.A., D.Phil. but for whose reassuring encouragement this project would possibly not have been started and without whose inspiring guidance it would certainly not have been completed.

Next I must record my sincere thanks to two young friends Shri Chittaranjan Chakrabarty, M.A. and Shri Trinesh Barua, B.Sc., both of Gauripur. I shall never forget the genuine interest they took from the beginning of my work, the enthusiasm with which they gave me company in many of my material-hunting drives and the readiness with which they passed on to me any relevant material they came by. My special thanks are also due to Kumari Pranita Barua (Piku) of Salkocha and Shri Shyamal Roy both of whom took great pains to help me with the collection of material and other relevant information.

I am also particularly grateful to Shri Sibendra Narayan Mandal and Shrimati Niharbala Barua, both well-known for their zeal in the matter of preservation of the cultural heritage of Goalpara. Apart from making over much valuable material, they have ungrudgingly given me the benefit of their experience and knowledge in course of the many discussions I had with them.

It is also my pleasant duty to express my deep sense of gratitude to the following gentlemen for special favours rendered: to Dr U. C. Goswami, M.A., D.Phil. for unstinted help and guidance on technical matters in the preparation of the note on the dialects; to Shri Mohammed Saadullah for taking a personal interest in my work and taking most of the photographs given here; to Shri Benu Misra, the well-known artist of Assam, for kindly drawing a few sketches at my special request; to Prof Madhab Ch. Sarma, Head of the Dept. of Geography, B. Borooah College for taking the trouble of preparing the maps; and to Shriman Dhruba Deka, an up and coming artists for drawing a big number of sketches.

My thanks are also due to the authorities and staff of the Department of Historical and Antiquarian Studies, Assam, of Cotton College Library, Gauhati, and of Assam Research Society, Gauhati for kindly extending library facilities including the use of rare books and manuscripts. The library staff of B. Borooah College also deserve my thanks for their cooperation and help.

I am also obliged in different ways to the following friends and well-wishers: Principal P. C. Bhattacharya, M.A., D.Phil., Prof Jogesh Das, Prof H. C. Deka, Dr N. P. Bardoloi (all of B. Borooah College); Prof Bhaben Barua, Dr Hiren Gohain, Shri Arun Deka, Shri Hiren Bhattacharya and Prof Tafazzul Ali of Gauhati; Prof
Alokesh Barua and Prof Amal Chowdhury of Gauripur; Shri Hara Mohan Chakrabarty of Bongaigaon and Gauhati, Dr Mahendra Bora and Shri Rudra Barua; Shri B. Das, Shri G. Kalita and Shri B. Lahkar.

A few other names I feel I must mention are Shri Azad Ali, Shri Dwipesh Barua (Gopi), Dharani Barman, Shri Hadi Hussain, Shri Sekendar Ali and Shri Monomohan Barman of Gauripur; Shri Kali Dutta Gupta and Shri Monowar Ali of Rupshi; Shri Dharani Kanta Das, Shri Souren Chakrabarty, Prof Uddhab Pathak and Prof Krishna Adhikary of Abhayapuri; Shri Shyama Charan Nath of Krishnai; Shri Rajen Rabha of Dudhnai; Shri Harimohan Sarkar and Shri Beliram Rabha of Dhupdhara; Shri Alauddin Sarkar and Shri Parameswar Chakrabarty of Agamani; Shri Dhiren Ghosh and Shri Kamini Mazumdar of Bilaspipara.

Although a formal expression of gratitude may seem almost out of place, I feel morally obliged to mention the patience and forebearance shown by my mother-in-law and members of her family. The entire family literally became involved in my project and with enthusiastic cooperation rendered the atmosphere most congenial for my work during my long and frequent stays at Gauripur.

Lastly, I must admit that I owe a special debt of gratitude to my wife, Shrimati Eva Datta, who has taken the liveliest interest in my work throughout the period I was engaged in it, cheerfully borne privations and inconveniences resulting from my almost constant preoccupation and been a silent but sure source of strength and confidence whenever my patience and strength of mind seemed to be running out.
