At the very outset, I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to my respected guide Professor D. C. Goswami of the Department of Geography, Gauhati University. Without his constant guidance, inspiration, valuable suggestions and deep involvement in my work the completion of this work in the present form would not have been possible. I would possibly exhaust my vocabulary of words to offer him an adequate expression of my gratitude.

I am greatly indebted to the University Grants Commission for granting me the one year fellowship to complete the research. I would like to express my gratitude to Principal, D.P. Saikia of B.P. Chaliha College, Nagerbera for his interest and encouragement in my research and for releasing me in time from my college duty to complete my work. My thanks are also due to the Head of the Department of Geography, B.P. Chaliha College, Nagerbera and the colleagues of the Department as well as other colleagues of the college for their support and encouragement in my research endeavour.

I wish to express my sincere gratitude to the various authors, publishers, organisations and institutions for using their learned papers, books, journals, reports and maps relevant to my work.

My grateful acknowledgement are also due to Prof. M.M. Das, Head of the Department of Geography, G.U. and other teachers of the same department for their kind help and encouragement.

I would be failing in my duties if I do not express my thanks to many of my well wishers including Dr. (Mrs) C. Goswami, T. Das, R. Kalita, G. Kalita, A. Das for their constant support and inspiration that helped me to go ahead with my work and complete it.

I owe a special debt to the head of ARSA, Dr. L. C. Goswami and the scientists Sri I. D. Goswami and C. Das for providing me with sets of relevant data from their office archive.

I wish to thank my wife Prativa and daughter Trishna for taking ample pain in extending me all possible help during my research period. Besides, I also express my gratitude to my father and other members of the family for their help and support.

Lastly, I would like to express my deep sense of indebtedness to Mr. U.N. Roychoudhury, ex-Cartographer and Sri P. Chattcharyya, Cartographer, Department of Geography, G.U. for rendering the valuable cartographic support and to Sri K.C. Das, who with great patience and pain, speedily typed out the final copy of the thesis within the limited time frame.

I also take this opportunity to acknowledge the direct and indirect contributions of all those countless individuals whose help and guidance enabled me to complete this research work.

Gauhati University

November 24, 1995

(N. K. Boruoloi)