The present thesis is a modest attempt at analysing the impact of the implementation of developmental programmes in general and educational programmes for community living in particular, in the Community Development Blocks of Kamrup district, and also in finding out some remedial measures for a healthier and harmonious community living.

At the time of preparing the thesis, I have had the occasion to discuss the topic of my research with numerous distinguished personalities, both officials and non-officials, who took keen interest in my work and despite their multifarious and pressing engagements, spared themselves generously, to respond to my queries and requests. Needless to say, their valuable suggestions and advice helped me to a considerable extent in appreciating the problems and issues of the subject in correct perspective.
It is my bounden duty to express my deep gratitude to my erstwhile revered teacher Dr. Lakshahira Das, M.A., Ph.D., Reader in the Department of Education, Gauhati University under whose able guidance and supervision, I have prepared this thesis. But for her concrete suggestions, constructive criticism and constant encouragement, it would not have been possible for me to complete the work.

I have greatly benefited from consultations with a galaxy of distinguished professors, among whom, special mention may be made of Dr. Maheswar Neog, M.A., D.Phil., formerly Head of the Department of Assamese and Jawaharlal Nehru Professor, G.U. and erstwhile Saint Sankaradeva Professor, Punjabi University Patiala; Dr. Prabhas Chandra Goswami, M.A., B.L., Ph.D. (London), IFCI Professor, G.U.; Dr. Atul Sarma, M.A., Ph.D. Post-doctoral fellow, MIT, Harvard, USA, formerly Professor of Economics, Sardar Patel Institute of Economics and Social Research, Ahmedabad, and now Professor of Economics, Indian Statistical Institute, Delhi Branch and Member, State Planning Board, Assam; Dr. Krishna Prasad Bora, M.A., D.Phil., Professor and formerly Head of the Department of Education, G.U., to all of whom, I express my profound gratitude.

I owe a debt of gratitude to Dr. (Mrs.) Renu Debi, M.A., LL.B., Ph.D., A.I.E. (London), Professor and Head of the Department of Education, G.U. for her suggestions and encouragement in course of my research work.

I am grateful to Librarian, National Library, Calcutta for granting me permission to consult reference books in the National Library, especially to Shri Kula Nath Gogoi, B.A., B.Lib. Sc., Editor, Assamese Section, National Library for his help and cooperation in my library work.

I also express my thankfulness to Dr. K.N. Baishya, M.A., LL.B., B.Lib. Sc., Ph.D., Librarian, Assam Legislative Assembly Library, Dispur and other officials in charge of Research Section, State Central Library, Guwahati and the District Library, Guwahati, Assam for allowing me to consult books and journals as and when required, I am also thankful to the officials and staff of Gauhati University Library ( now K.K. Handique Library, G.U. ) for their kind assistance in my library study.

In course of preparation of my thesis, I have copiously drawn upon materials from the reference books of various authors and publications of Govt. Departments, which I have acknowledged by name in the Bibliography. I acknowledge with gratitude the help and co-operation received from (1) Director of Community Development and Panchayats, Assam and Block Development Officers and other Block officials of Kamrup district in course of my field survey;
(2) Directorate of Public Instruction, Assam (includ­ing formal and non-formal Wings) and (3) Directorate of Economics & Statistics, Assam in supplying materials from their files and records.

I am also grateful to Prof. Ram Charan Das,
M.A., DSSA (TISS), Bombay, formerly Head of the Department of Anthropology, Arya Vidyapeeth College, Guwahati for his forceful encouragement.
I owe a debt of gratitude to my revered father Shri Gajendra Nath Phukan, B.A. B.Lib. Sc. (BHU), for giving me inspiration and encouragement from time to time to complete the work.

I express my thanks to Dr. B.R. Deka, M.A., Ph.D., Principal, Gauhati College for his kind help in granting me leave during the period of my UGC fellowship.

Sarbashri N.C. Dhekial Phukan, M.Sc., Deputy Director of Economics & Statistics, Kamrup, Guwahati; A.K. Gogoi, B.A., the then Statistical Officer, Guwahati, M.N. Goswami, M.A., the then Statistical Officer, Nalbari (now Research Officer, H.Q.); H.C. Boro, B.Sc., B.T., the then Statistical Officer, Barpeta (now Research Officer, Directorate of Welfare of P.T. & B.C., Guwahati); and a host of statistical personnel posted in the sample C.D. Blocks, they are too numerous to be named individually, have offered their help and co-operation in course of my field survey in C.D. Blocks of Kamrup district, to all of whom, I express my thankfulness.
I am specially grateful to the village people including village headmen (Gaonburas), youth leaders, members of Mahila Samitis, school teachers and other knowledgeable persons of the sample villages in the C.D. Blocks of Kamrup district, who offered whole hearted co-operation in supplying answers to my queries in course of my field investigation for collection of authentic information and data for the purpose of my thesis.

Sarbashri G. Neog and S. Ghose of Guwahati; S.N. Talukder and A.K. Sarma of Ph.D. Brach of G.U. and Jatin Bora, Senior Artist, Directorate of Econ. & Statistics, Assam, Guwahati also rendered valuable assistance for which I express my sincere thanks.

I am particularly grateful to University Grants Commission, New Delhi for granting me teacher fellowship for Ph.D. for one year to complete field work during 1984-85, without whose financial assistance, it would have been difficult for me to carry out the field work.
I offer my hearty thanks to Sarbashri Birendra Nath Deka and Amiya Kumar Sarma of Assam State Agricultural Marketing Board, Guwahati, for typing out the thesis in a short span of time.

Finally, I shall be failing in my duty, if I do not express a word of gratitude to my husband Shri Jogram Hatibaruah, M.Sc.(BHU), Chief of Division, Perspective Planning, Planning & Development Department, Govt. of Assam, Dispur, who not only constantly encouraged me but also contributed in numerous other ways by his sincere support, companionship, and suggestions throughout the progress of work.
