ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

"To dream is easy but to achieve it is yet another dream."

With reference to the above lines this thesis arose in part out of years of research that has been done through cooperation and handwork of the people around me. Their contribution in assorted ways to my research work and the process involved in the making of the thesis deserved special mention. It is a pleasure to convey my gratitude to them all in my humble acknowledgment.

In the first place I would like to record my gratitude to Prof. R. Khongsdier for his supervision, advice, and guidance from the very early stage of this research as well as giving me extraordinary experiences throughout the work. Above all and the most needed, he provided me unflinching encouragement and support in various ways. His truly scientific mind and intuition has made him as a constant oasis of ideas and passions in the subject matter, which has exceptionally inspired and enriched my growth as a student, a researcher and an Anthropologist. I am indeed indebted to him more than he knows. May God bless him for his good work.

I owe my thanks to my parents who have always been a constant support for me throughout my life. Their inspiration and prayers have always been a driving force for me. now and forever.

Here I would also like to express my sincere gratitude to my interpreter Kong. S. Paliar and all her family members for their active involvement in helping me during my data collection. Their hospitality, dedication and love for me has really pushed me through my hard days in the field. My experience in the field was a wonderful one because of them. Also, I would like to thank Kong Inn, Kong Martina and every respondents sparing their time during the survey.

My thanks also goes to Febreena Lyndem my dear cousin sister for her untiring help for me by reading the papers during my preparation for the thesis. Without her help it could have been incomplete.

I also would like to thank Mr. K. Sanjoy Singha for always being there for me at all times. His nature and advices has inspired me in many ways to complete my work.

I owe my gratitude to Mr. Bring-scholar from Geography Dept for his help in making and procuring the map for me when I approached him at the last moment. Last but not the least I sincerely thank my friends Anu, Athoi, who have always been there for me whenever I needed them.
