ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Acknowledgment is hardly a term that can do justice to all the people who have helped me in making this work possible. One can only express one's sincere thanks for the much-needed encouragement, inspiration and insights provided by various sources. In any case, I express my deep sense of gratitude for all assistance received, even if, in some cases, it must be in the form of collective thanks to many people and institutions not mentioned by name.

My special thanks go first to Dr. H.N. Sharma, Professor and Head of the Department of Geography, Gauhati University under whose inspiring guidance and supervision the work has been carried out. But for the sustained encouragement, valuable and critical suggestions and endless hours of time and effort generously given by him at every stage of the work, the completion of the work would not have been possible. Indeed my gratitude for all the help he has given me can hardly be expressed in words. Besides, Professor M. Taher and other teachers in the Geography Department, Gauhati University remained constant sources of encouragement, insights and suggestions which I gratefully acknowledge.

I would also like to thank a host of research fellows though not specifically mentioned by name for extending me valuable suggestions throughout the process of the work. Typing of the manuscript made heavy demands on the patience and time of Shri Kalicharan Das and to him I am extremely grateful. Likewise I am equally grateful to Shri U.N. Roychoudhury, Cartographer in the Geography Department, Gauhati University for preparing the figures so expertly.

Back in Nagaland, a lot of friends and government officials though remain unnamed helped me in various ways and I gratefully acknowledge their spirited cooperation and service. In particular I would like to thank Shri Imkong, Assistant Director, Rural Development, Nagaland, Kohima who ungrudgingly and liberally helped me in a number of ways including the making of field study. Besides, I am grateful to the Education Department, Government of Nagaland for granting me study leave for a period of two years.

Last but not the least, I express my gratitude to my wife, Mrs. Chubatola for her persistent support and encouragement throughout the entire period of my research and also for shouldering the responsibility of the home front while I was engrossed in the preparation of the thesis.
