ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I take this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to my respected teacher and supervisor Dr. Sujata Purkayastha, M.A., Ph.D., Professor and Head, Department of Sanskrit, Gauhati University, but for whose inspiring guidance, constant encouragement and untiring help it would have been well nigh impossible to complete this dissertation. I am deeply indebted to her.

I shall be failing in my duty if I do not record my thankfulness to all the faculty members as well as my revered teachers in the Department of Sanskrit, Gauhati University, for their kind help accorded to me by them in different ways.

I am also grateful to my teacher Professor Ashok Kumar Goswami, Gauhati University, Retired Head, Department of Sanskrit, Gauhati University for his fruitful suggestions.

My sincere thanks go to Dr. Nandita Bhattacharjee Goswami, Retired Vice-Principal of Cotton College, Guwahati for her valuable inspirations.

I must thank my teacher Dr. Suresh Chandra Bora, HOD, Department of Sanskrit, Cotton College, Guwahati and other teachers and colleagues of the Department of Sanskrit, Cotton College for their kind help, inspiration and good will.

I am deeply indebted to the Librarian and staff-members of the K.K. Handique Library, Gauhati University; S.K. Bhuyan Library, Cotton College, Guwahati; K.K.H. Govt. Sanskrit College Library, Guwahati; Delhi University Library, Delhi; J.N.U. Library, New Delhi; Benaras Hindu University Library, Benaras and Sampurnananda Sanskrit University Library, Benaras.

I am very grateful to the authority of the Indian Council of Historical Research, New Delhi for giving me a research Fellowship for this work in 2004-05.

I shall be failing in my duty if I do not record my indebtedness to my parents Sri Sadananda Sharma and Srimati Anima Sharma but for whose untiring help, affection and inspiration, this dissertation could not have been completed. I am also very grateful to my brother Sri Mrinmoy Sandilya, who has inspired me all through my research to attain my goal.

My best thanks are also due to Sri Brahmaji Rao, for the constant encouragement and help that I have received from him.

Some close friends also have inspired and help me in different ways. I convey my cordial regards for them.
I heartily acknowledge the help received from Sri Kali Charan Das, Raja and Raju who took so much trouble in computer typing the dissertation in a very short period of time.
