ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The study has been made under the supervision of Dr. K. Alam, Prof. and Head, Department of Economics, Gauhati University. His guidance, substantive suggestions and encouragement were immense help to me. For all these I am deeply indebted to him.

I am grateful to Prof. D.T. Lakdawala and Prof. M.L. Dantwala, for giving me the benefit of valuable discussions with them on some significant aspects of my study. I am indebted to Prof. Atul Sarma, the then Prof. of Sardar Patel Institute of Economic and Social Research, Ahmedabad, for many constructive suggestions he made in this regard to my investigation. I am also equally thankful to Dr. Y.K. Alagh, the then Director of Sardar Patel Institute of Economic and Social Research for giving me the permission to visit the research institute and consult with the faculty members.

I am also thankful to Dr. B. Kar, Reader, Department of Economics, Gauhati University, who helped me to make necessary improvements in the language of the draft.

I wish to thank Dr. P.D. Saikia, Director of Agro-Economic Research Centre, For North East India, Jorhat, for giving me the opportunity to visit the research centre. I wish to thank Dr.(Miss) Usha Sharma, Associate Professor of Economics, at Sardar Patel Institute of Economic and Social Research for her keen interest and helpful suggestions in my work. I wish to record the help I received from Dr.(Miss) S.D. Sawant of Bombay University, for her useful comments and valuable suggestions in my investigation. I am also grateful to Dr. H. Choudhury, Reader, Department of Statistics, Gauhati University who has given me the benefit of his scientific clarity in statistical analysis.

I owe to many other people the mention of all whom is an impossibility.

I am also grateful to the staff of Jawaharlal Nehru Library, University of Bombay and that of the National Library, Calcutta for their generous help and co-operative attitude during the period of my library work. My deep sense of gratitude is also due to the staff of Assam Legislative Assembly Library, and that of K.K. Handique Library, Gauhati University for their help and cooperation in making the books, journals and other materials available to me.

I am also thankful to Mr. Kalicharan Das for typing the pages carefully and to Sri U.N. Roychoudhury for helping me in cartographical services.

I am also grateful to my wife Srimati P. Barman for encouraging me to carry out the work successfully. I also express my thanks to Miss P. Barman, my sister-in-law for her help in the computational work.

Needless to say, I alone am responsible for errors and omission that remain.

Department of Economics,
Gauhati University,
Guwahati - 781014,
Assam (India),
1985

Kardarupa K. Barman
(K. K. Barman)
12/9/85